AUTUMN...

New Backdrop Used for Terror Legend

Members of the student body filed into the auditorium as Mickey Spencer and Pat Musick prepared to narrate the traditional Terror Legend. This year's presentation deviated from the traditional with new stage lighting and a new backdrop of the Pikes Peak region painted by Mike Esch, the stagecraft class, and the advanced art class.

After the quiet ceremony in which Masque and Sandal portrayed the ancient Terror tribe, the Junior and Senior councils placed lighted candles on the broken circle. While the Advanced Choir, under the direction of Mr. Jerry Teske, sang the Alma Mater, the new Sophomore council members pledged their loyalty as Terrors to their school.

"... To the brown and white, our colors, brown and white, the magic colors Of the Peak that towers above us on the plains of Colorado."

"Come and join the tribe of Terrors as the sign and seal of friendship..."

Two students from German Club hang a sign identifying their booth.

Palmer's girls' gym was the scene for "Baby Bounce A Goo Goo," the first dance of the year held especially for the sophomores. This dance helped the sophomores discover and join the many clubs at Palmer. Sixteen set up in the balcony of the gym gave information and took sign-ups from the students. Getting acquainted with other sophomores was another purpose of the Sophomore Serenade.

During the half-time of the football game, John Ball crowns the queen and presents the award to Mr. C. C. Morris.

"The Greatest Show On Earth" Premieres

On Friday morning, October 16, the presentation of the queen candidates, the "Carousel of Queens," began the activities of the 1968 Homecoming, the "Greatest Show on Earth."

"Opening Night," held at Memorial Field on October 18, introduced the first performance of the "Greatest Show on Earth." Against the background of the raging bonfire lit by the flaming arrows of Terror Indians, Eaglebeak revealed the Pow Wow Queen, Jocelyn Hunter.

A special appearance of the Denver Manual High School Band highlighted the Terror Caravan. Floats classed in the brown and white division, cars with the Queen and Princesses, and Wasson's and Mitchell's bands and cheerleaders participated in the traditional parade.

The Terrors combatted the Centennial Bulldogs at District 11 Stadium on October 19. Before the crowning of the Queen and the presentation of the Recipient Award to Mr. C. C. Morris; the band, twirlers, drill team, cheerleaders and pom pon girls performed circus formations complete with a three ring arena.

In the girls' gym "Under the Big Top" concluded the 1968 Homecoming activities. Greeted by festive circus decorations, Palmer alumni from the class of 1923.

The senior float, "Stomp the Bulldogs," was the hit of the parade.

Standing Ovation Greets Fall Play

To the accompaniment of the choir, a candle-lit procession of the performers in the "Sound of Music" filed slowly onto the darkened stage. The crowded auditorium grew completely still. From the balcony above the audience, the choir sang several selections from the musical. Then the curtains opened on the Austrian village where the play took place.

"The Sound of Music," directed almost entirely by the student drama teacher, Mr. Dan Johnson, employed several new techniques in production. While the stage crews changed the scenery, various members of the cast entertained the audience with singing, dancing, and comic episodes. Mr. Dean Delaney and Mr. Jerry Teske combined forces for the musical aspect of the production. Mr. Teske also choreographed the entire play.

Sold out on both performances, "The Sound of Music" received standing ovations on both evenings.

Notehand Classes Show Improvements

College-bound students benefited this year from an improved notehand class which began second semester. The course enabled them to get more practical use from notehand. Program plans for next year included combining the two courses of office practice and office machines into one class.

Other business courses offered this year included three typing courses, bookkeeping, records, shorthand, business law, service, printing, math, and management.

New to Palmer this year was Mr. Ransom, Head of the Business Department. He had formerly taught at Mitchell High School.

Learning to use a duplicator, students run off several copies of an assignment.

During class Carolyn Dover practices her typing.

Business Department Head Mr. Maurice Ransom checks papers during his free period.

Mr. Thomas Laasch reminds students to use certain rules when typing.

After reading the next day's assignment, Kathy Groves puts her shorthand to use.

Miss Donna Burden assists one of her students as he works in the English lab.

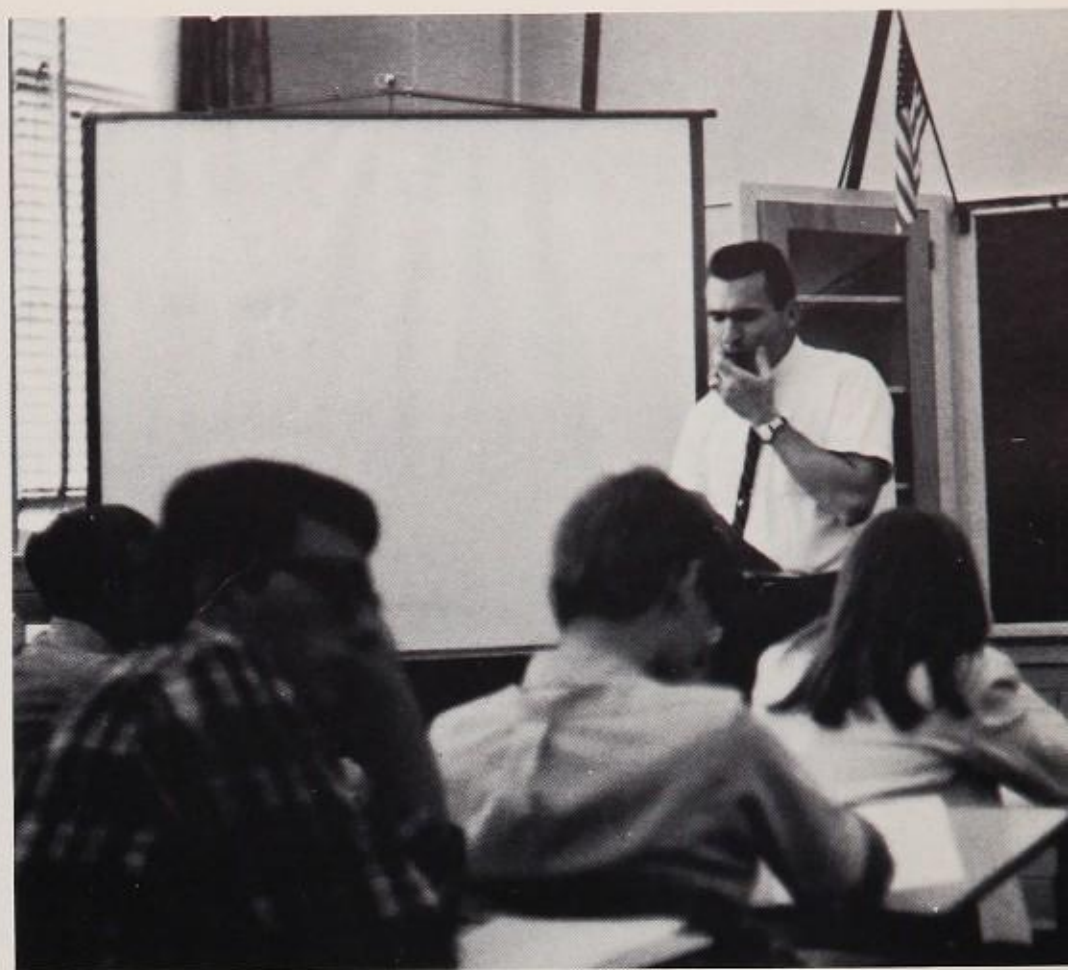

Using hand gestures, Mr. David Reinke explains some fundamental grammar to one of his English classes.

"The old concept of 'Read the chapter and do the exercise' or 'Read the story and answer the questions at the end' is slowly, but fortunately disappearing from the English classroom," according to Mr. Peak, English Department chairman. This change in attitude was shown in that English students viewed such films as Becket, Lord of the Flies, and Death of a Salesman. Other new activities included field trips to Will Roger's Shrine; lectures by the authors, James Yaffe and Amanda Ellis; and a theatrical production of the World of Mark Twain by the senior A.P. English class. In addition to these classroom activities the English Department sponsored the Lever, the Terror Trail, the Asterisk, and the forensics team.

Members of the AP English class examine C. P. Snow's The Two Cultures; and a Second Look.

Cafeteria Serves Two Meals A Day

As its main job, the Palmer cafeteria provided two meals a day during the school year. As begun last year, the cafeteria served breakfast during first and second periods. Students were able to buy rolls, coffee, milk, doughnuts, fruit, and hot chocolate at this time.

Two options were available to students desiring to eat lunch in the cafeteria. The cafeteria staff offered a hot lunch, usually with several different choices for the main dish and dessert. For those students who preferred sandwiches and fruits, staff members at a special counter sold these items.

An open campus was maintained so that students could eat away from school if they wished. However, many preferred to eat at the cafeteria due to the lower prices, and the amount of time needed to be served and get back to school from places downtown.

Boys Americanize European Dishes

This year for the first time boys had the chance to get away from the ordinary cooking to the preparation of exotic foods. The cooking department, with the help of Mrs. Dorothy Schenk, arranged to extend the Boys' Cooking class. Mrs. Schenk waited for this opportunity for her two years of teaching at Palmer. Now boys will build suppers out of cans, jars, and boxes.

"Foods will not only stay, but, we hope, will be expanded upon," stated Mrs. Schenk. "We hope to have better and far more modern facilities in the new Palmer. The kitchens at Palmer can now conveniently take care of only twenty boys at a time."

Industrial Arts Groom Vocational Students

With the cooperation and advice of local industry, the industrial arts department this year greatly accelerated its assistance to students preparing for on-the-job training in industry. An advisory board consisting of industrial art faculty members and Colorado Springs businessmen was established to formulate new ideas on how teachers could help students to better utilize their school training in businesses upon graduating. With the help of Mr. Ron Seats, electronics; Mr. Charles Osterfoss, woodworking; Mr. Joe Milan, machine shop; and Mr. Merle Alley, automotive; new techniques were implemented and student know-how enhanced for local jobs such as television repairmen, cabinet-makers, lathe operators, and auto mechanics.

Mr. Alley joined the Palmer staff this year and established a new Sun Diagnostic Center for automotive troubleshooting.

participate in an informal discussion.

Advanced French Added To Department

A small group of students who completed their third year of French were introduced this year to an original fourth year class so that they would not experience a lapse between their high school and college French courses. Because of the small size of the class, it was combined with one of Mr. Maynard Iungerich's third year classes. Members of the class concentrated on informal discussions, compositions, and the reading of contemporary magazines and books.

The language department also offered three years of German, taught by Mrs. Rachel Sennert; two years of Latin, taught by Mrs. Marjorie Galley; four years of Spanish, taught jointly by Miss Karen McCarthy and Mr. Richard Rist.

Operating the language lab is Mr. Richard Rist.

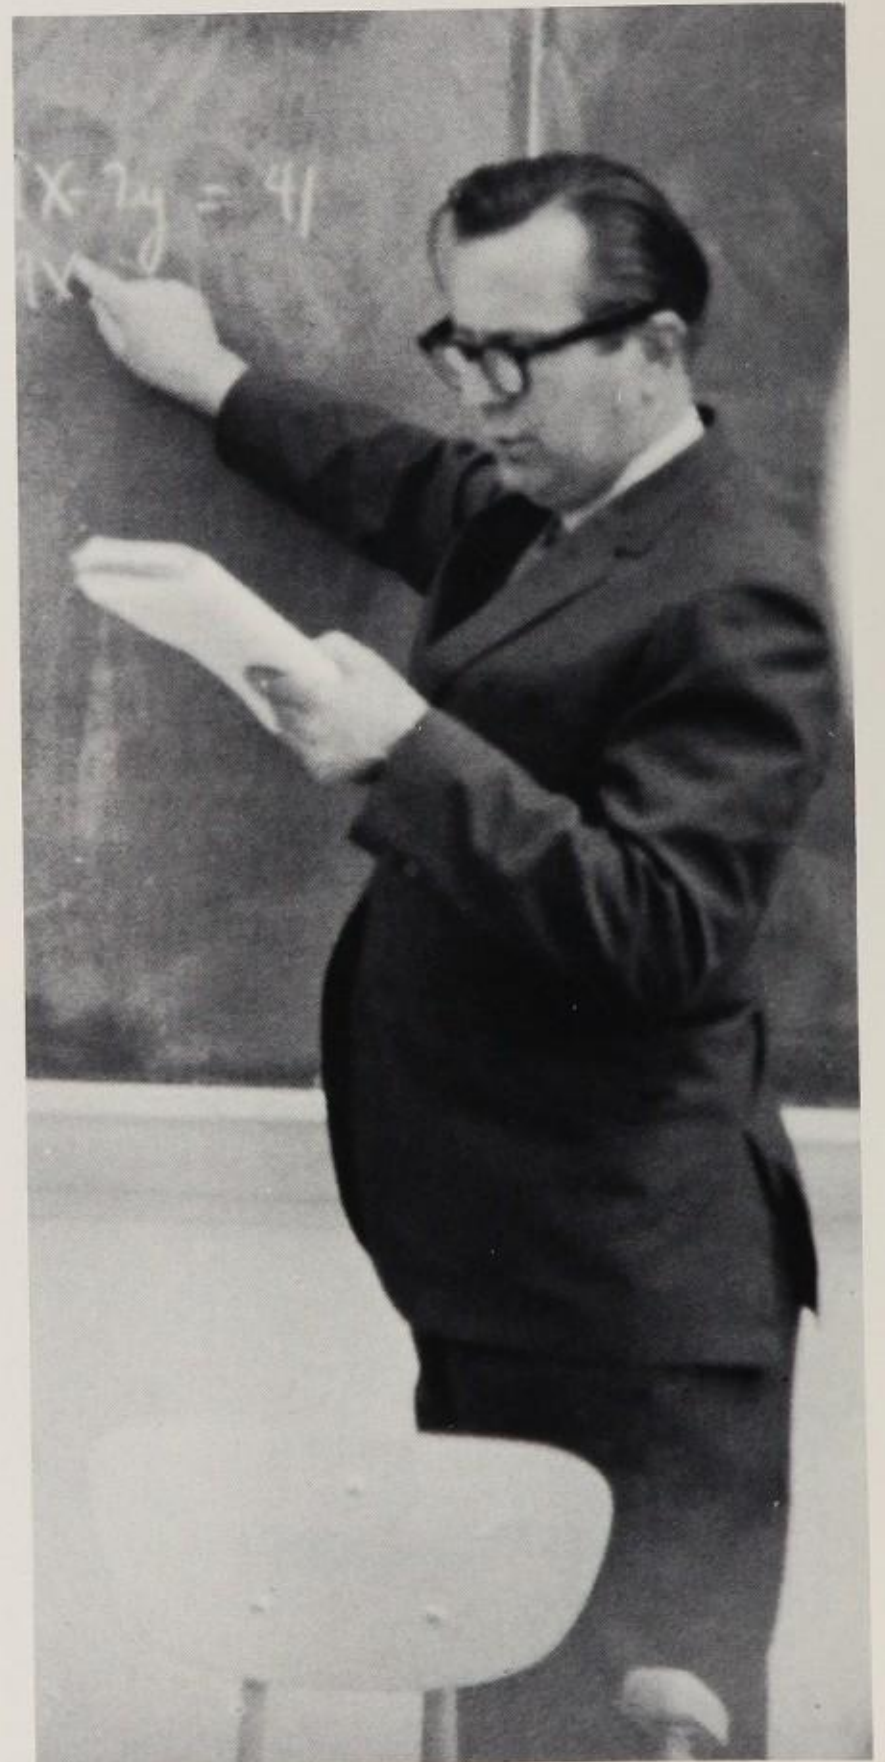

Looking over Barbra Ernst's shoulder, Mr. Donald Schiewe explains a problem from the new Vector Geometry class.

Having appealed to the National Honor Society for help with her Algebra, Vicki Wischusen is tutored by Bob Carver.

Mr. John Muller illustrates a geometric principle to his seventh period Geometry class.

Even the Mathematics Department Chairman, Miss Charolette Brummer, has to grade papers.

Members of the Honors Math Analysis and Trigonometry class work their problems at the board.

New Approach Taken To Vector Geometry

Mr. Donald Schiewe organized an experimental Vector Geometry class which utilized the programmed learning techniques. This course was offered to sophomores who would ordinarily have taken the regular honors geometry class. This geometry class differs from the ordinary by presenting a more algebraic approach to geometry. A basic advantage of this new course is that it was easily adapted to the programmed learning techniques. By using the programmed learning the students were able to advance at their own speeds.

Biology students Steve Langford and Eric Freeman use the microscope to examine yeast cultures.

Advanced chemistry students conduct an experiment in which electrochemical cells explain oxidation-reduction.

Department Adds “Man-Made World”

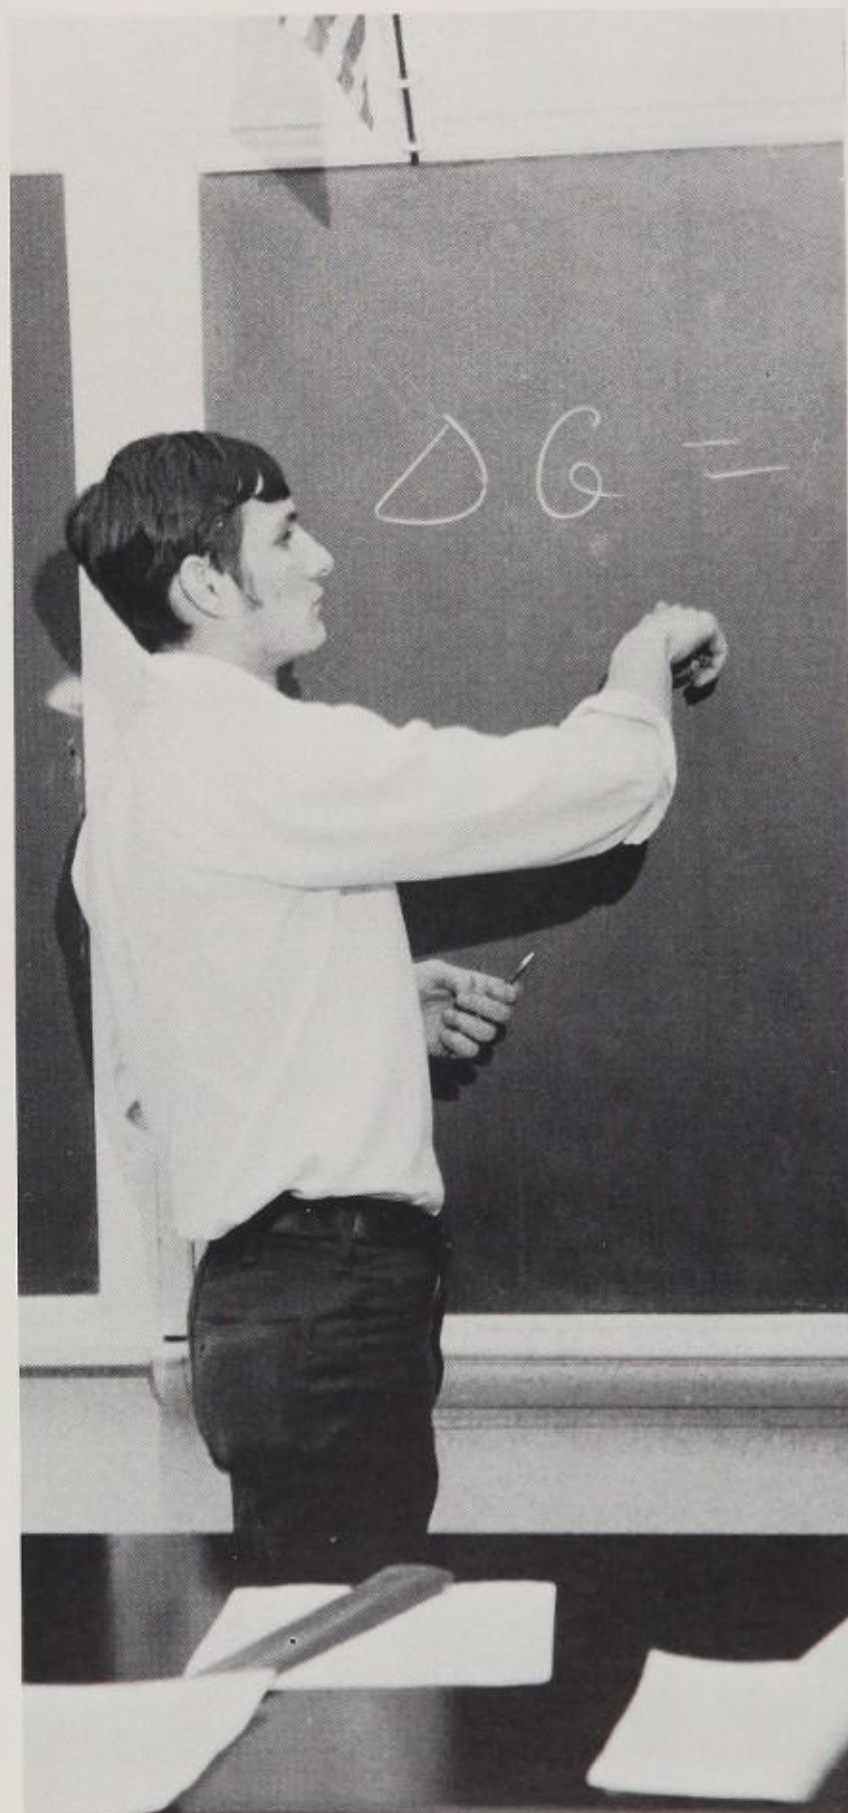

Man-Made World will be a new class added to Palmer's science electives for next year. This will be a one-year laboratory science course for juniors and seniors with at least one year of high school algebra. The course, designed to improve the technological literacy of the student, will emphasize information systems used in science and engineering. Other science courses available to the students this year included Chemistry, Physics, Geology, Physiology, Biology, and Physical Science.

Science Department Head, Mr. H. D. Moon, helped with plans for science classrooms in the new Palmer building. The new program will include rooms proportionate in size with modern facilities and new equipment. Teachers submitted their individual suggestions which the planning committee took into consideration for final plans.

Studying the lesson plan, Mr. Burnett prepares for his "Twentieth Century Problems" class.

Students from the new "Twentieth Century Problems" class take part in a special game where groups represent nations.

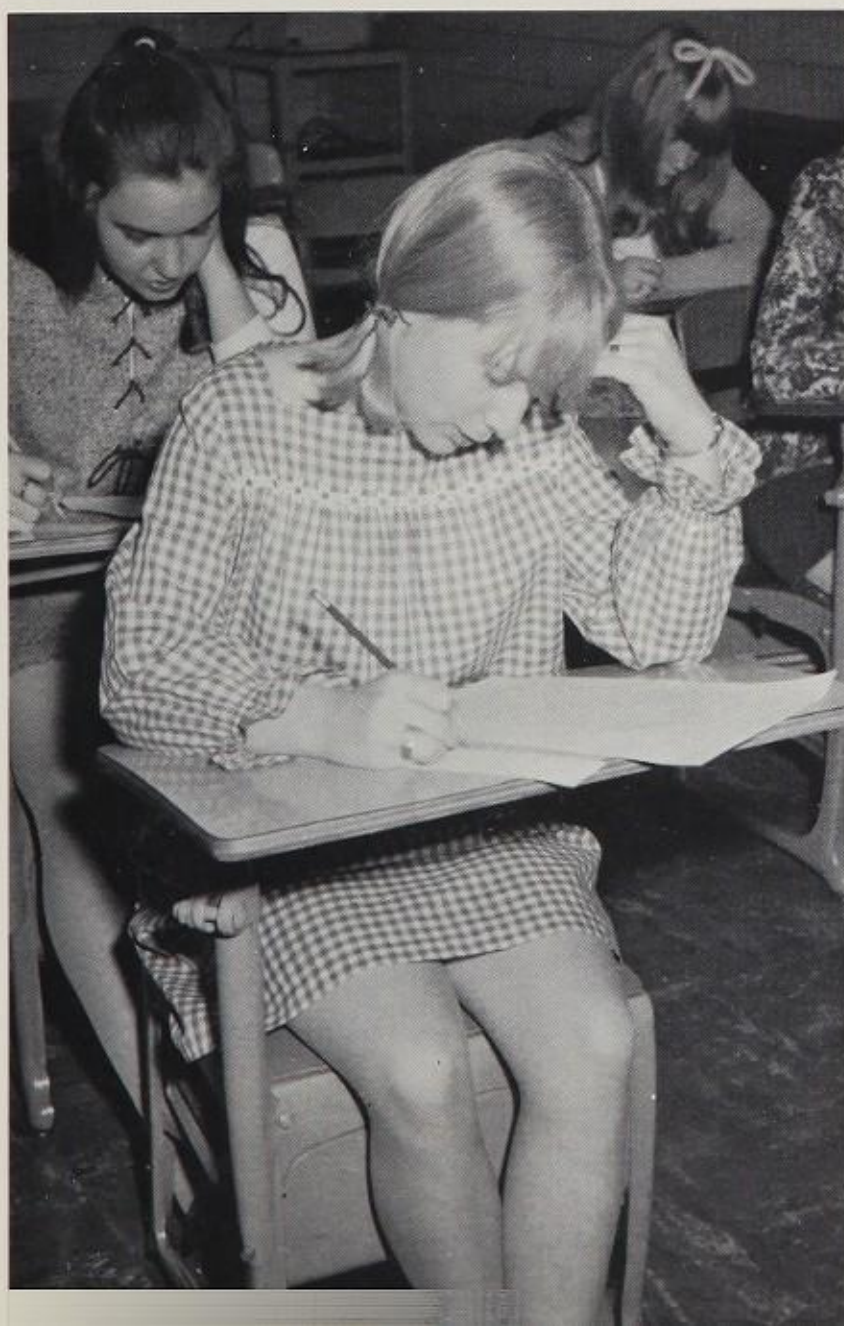

History Department Adds New Courses

"Twentieth Century Problems" and "History of the Far East" began as new classes this year in the history department. The "Twentieth Century Problems" class included the reading of books dealing with any era of the Twentieth Century and many class projects and discussions. Among these projects were a tour of a meat packing plant and a game in which students formed countries and carried out such acts of world nations such as making trade agreements or alliances and declaring wars upon one another. Mr. Burnett gave no tests in the class and had hoped to give no grades, but the administration did not feel this was possible at the time.

The "History of the Far East" taught during first semester by Mr. George Lewis, included the study of China and Japan among other Oriental countries. It, also, dealt with current Far Eastern problems such as the war in Vietnam.

Mr. Wesley Burnett became chairman of the history department last year. He is a graduate of Palmer High and received his B.A. degree at Colorado University and his M.A. at Colorado College.

Concentrating on a difficult question, Helen Roe works on an American History test in her A.P. class.

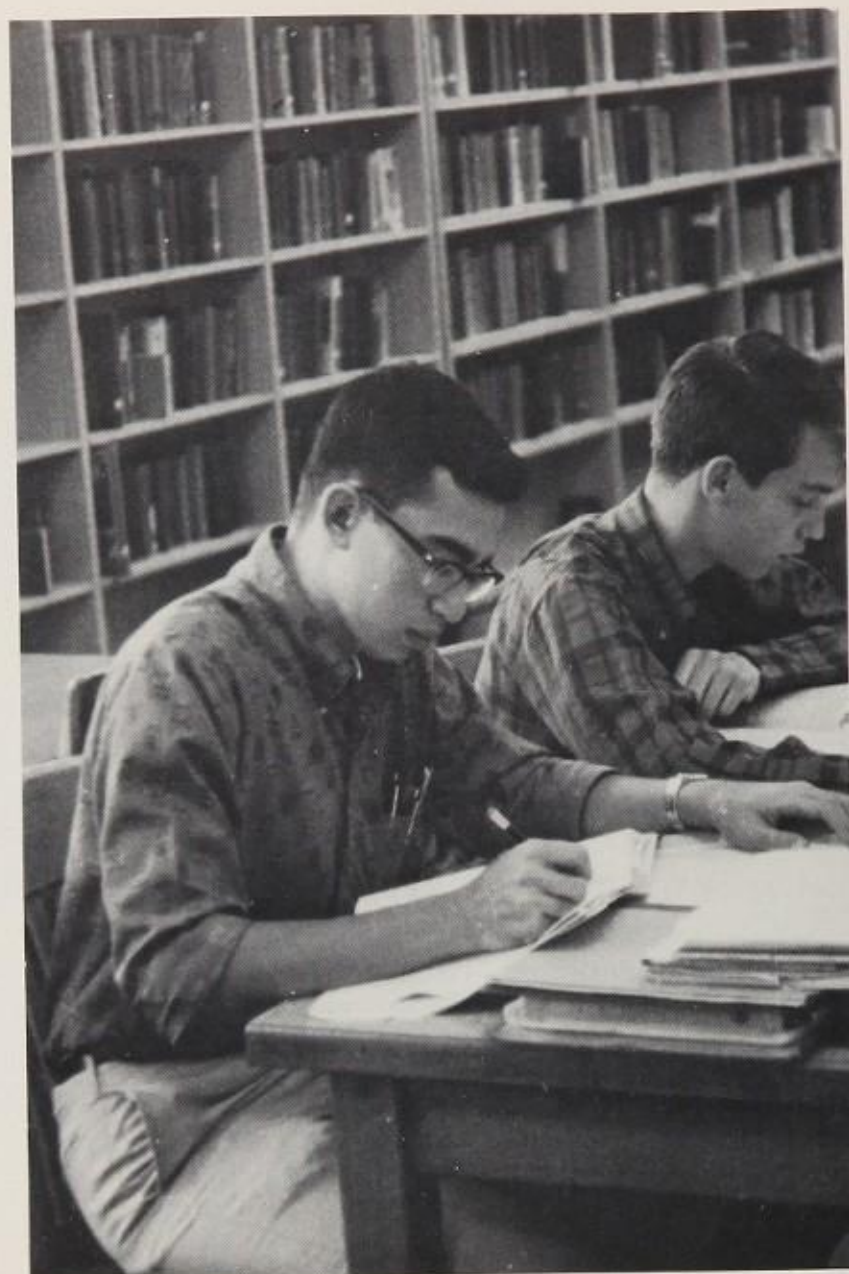

Wearing an authentic German costume, Helen Bradley speaks on Germans in America for her senior speech.

Alan Uphoff Fund Contributes Books

After purchasing the American Heritage Junior Library series last year, the library greatly increased its capacity of books. Money for these books originated from the Alan Uphoff Fund, which made contributions for books on topics such as American History, tennis, Unidentified Flying Objects (UFO's), and geology. The time span of the history books ranged from early America, Jamestown, First English Colony to World War II, D-Day, Invasion of Europe.

The Alan Uphoff Fund was started by Jim Dwyer, Dan Dwyer, and Alan's parents in memorium of Alan Uphoff, who attended Palmer High School last year.

Besides gaining books from this fund, the library also acquired an edition of The Encyclopaedia Britannica from Miss Olive Braden. This edition was the eleventh which the Britannica put out, and has historic value. Also Miss Braden gave the library the Harvard Classics Series.

Dan Wangerin and Bruce George work together on a home-work assignment in the library.

After the final exams in the Health classes, Mr. David Moulton and Mr. Leon Radke check the results.

Health Ed Gains Student Teachers

The Health Education Program of Palmer High School gained two new student teachers this year to help conduct health and gym classes. Mr. Richard Emerick, a student now attending Colorado State College at Greeley, taught the activities in gymnastics and physical education for Juniors and Seniors. Mr. Leon Radke, a student attending Colorado State University at Boulder, helped Mr. David Moulton, Palmer's gymnastics coach, and Mr. Joe Simanski as an assistant in general management. Both of the student teachers, in addition to their regular duties, coached "C" squad football.

With the help of the health books contributed to Palmer from Mitchell High School last year, the students from the swim classes were able to take home regular homework assignments.

Looking over the test results, Mr. Richard Emerick and Mr. Leon Radke discuss the student's ability.

Delegates Form Model Government

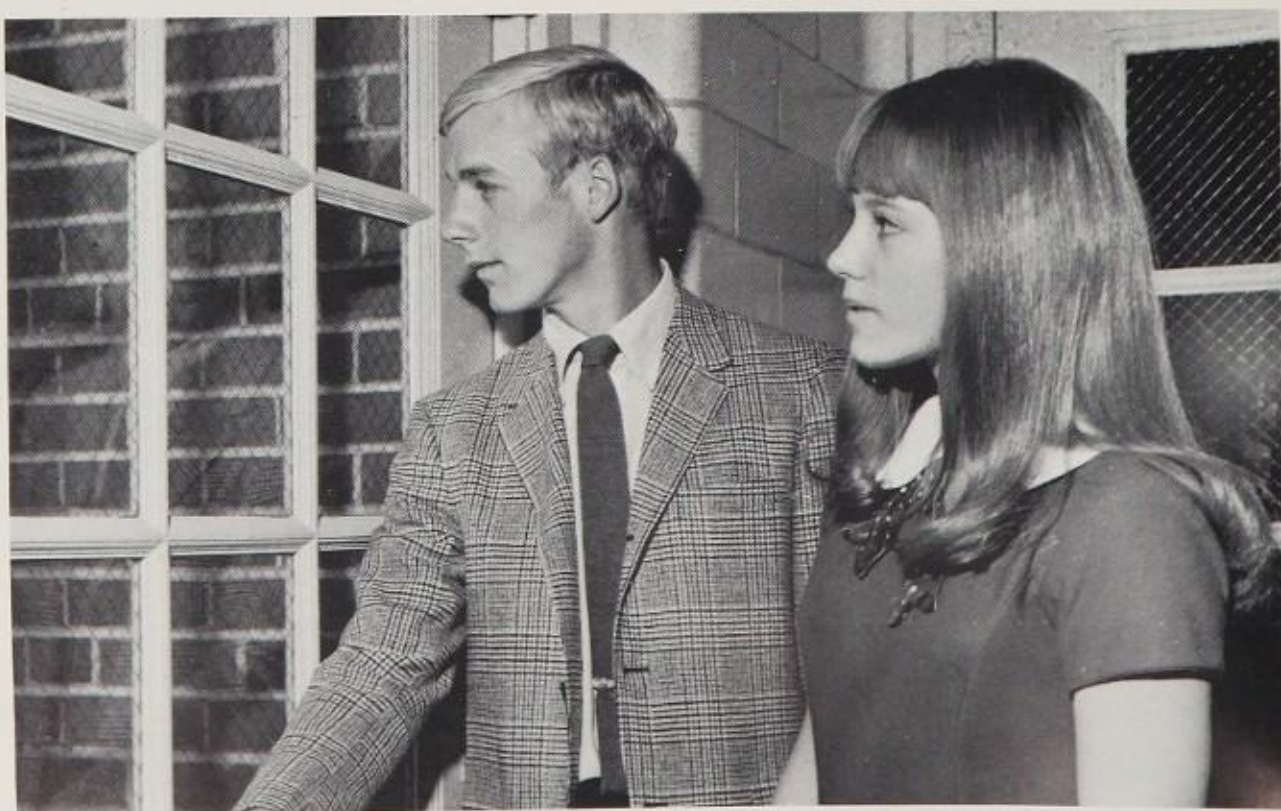

Representing Palmer at Girls' and Boys' State this year were Karen Stidham and David Whittingham. Girls' State took place at Temple Buell College in Denver, and Boys' State took place at Fort Collins. Activities for Boys' State and Girls' State followed almost the same pattern. One difference, however, was that the girls had little recreation time, while the boys had two hours of sports activities each day.

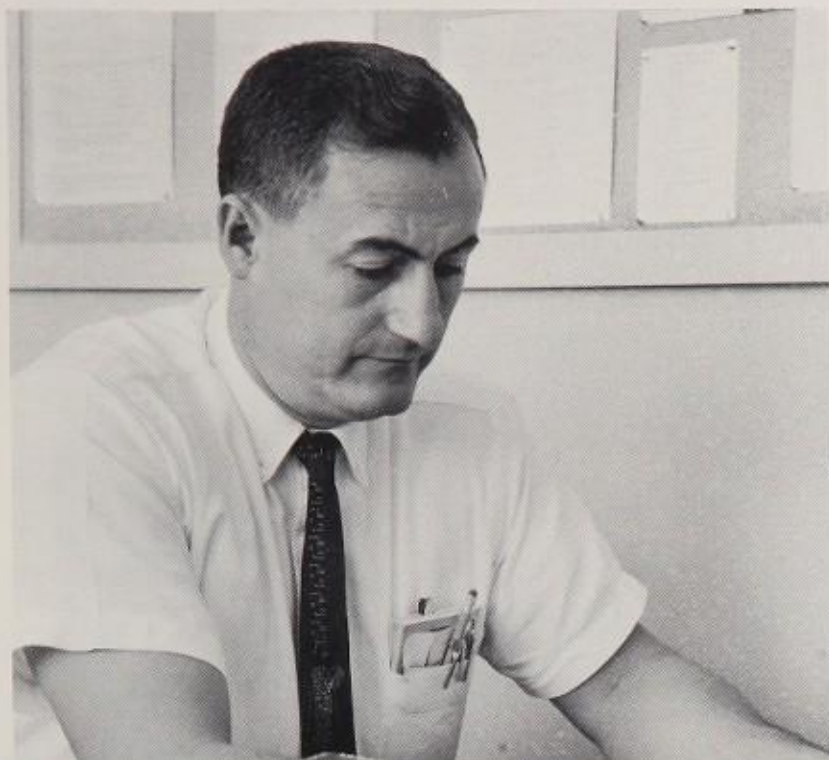

Registration cards assigned each representative to a political party. Those given blue registration cards belonged to the Federalist party, and those with gold registration cards belonged to the Nationalist party. Each person also belonged to a city, which was actually a section of the dormitory assigned to them upon registration. The citizens nominated and elected a mayor, city clerk, city treasurer, and three council members. Each city made up a precinct, and every person attended his county and state assemblies as a delegate. Parties formed their platforms and placed their candidates on the Primary ballot.

During lunch Karen Stidham and David Whittingham talk about problems they faced and activities they enjoyed at Boys' and Girls' State.

Following an interview for Boys' and Girls' State, representatives Karen Stidham and Dave Whittingham leave Palmer for the day.

Grading an outline, Mr. Lewis, Speech Department Head, checks for content.

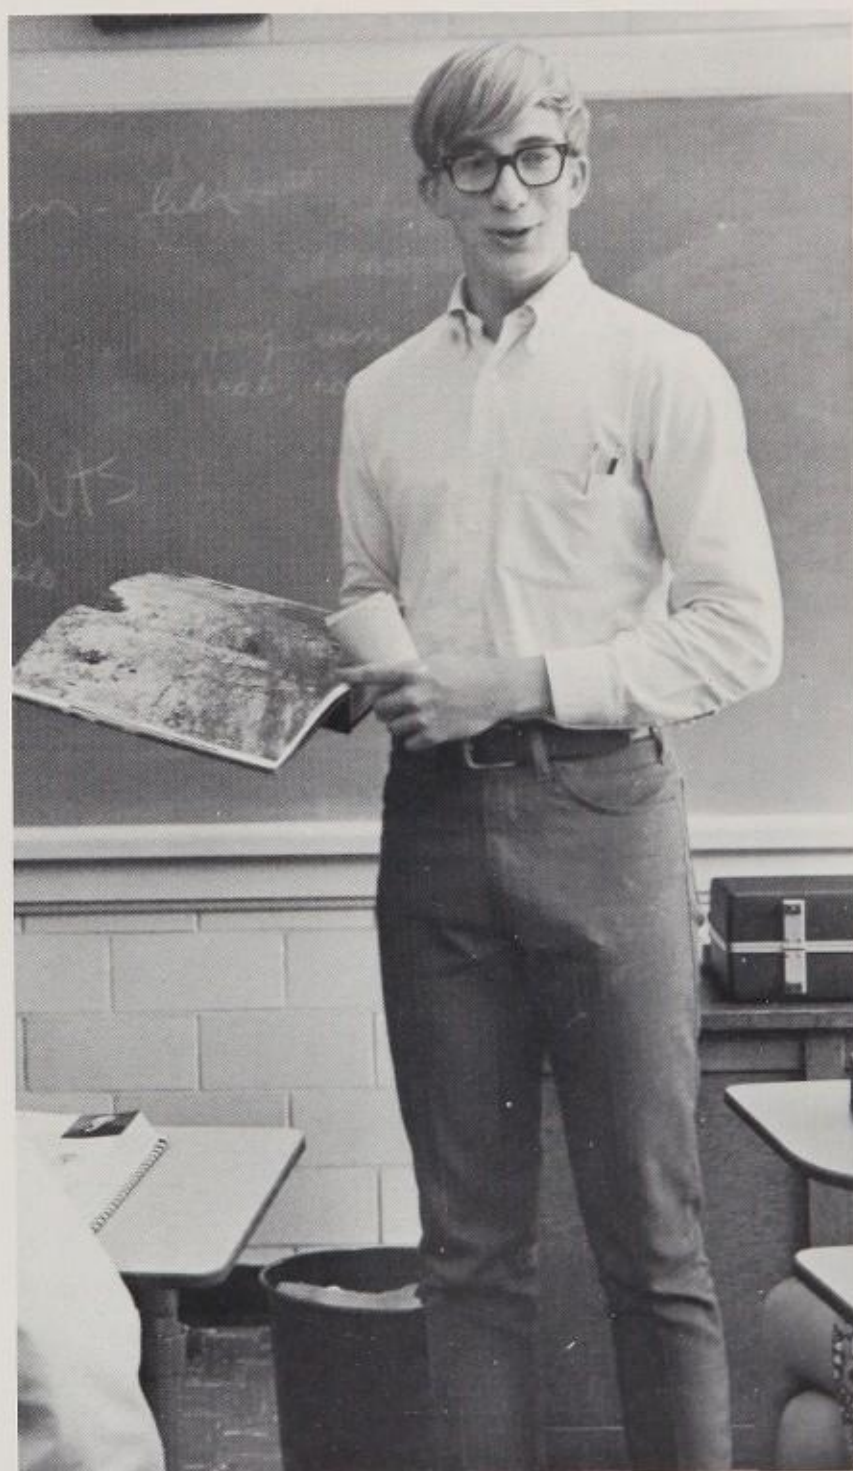

Juniors Deliver Major Speeches

Soon after the second semester began, juniors started giving their major speeches. Based on any subject in American history, topics ranged from tobacco plantations to "The Birdman of Alcatraz." The speeches ranged in length from twelve to twenty minutes, while some chose to speak for a full hour. In addition to their major speech, juniors delivered three shorter speeches also concerned with the history of the United States.

Sophomores learned to give several types of speeches, including speeches to explain, persuasive speeches, debates, and symposiums. Finding that visual aids enrich the content of speeches, the sophomores drew maps, painted pictures, and wrote on the chalk boards to illustrate their topics.

One change in the speech program this year was the cancellation of the advanced speech course, due to a shortage in student sign-ups.

While giving a speech to explain, Junior Roger Dewitt makes use of a picture inside a book for one of his visual aids.

Palmer Revises Attendance System

Second semester launched a different attendance system, handled by a new attendance secretary, Mrs. Wynn Brown. The revised system placed a greater responsibility upon students and parents and required less written work by the secretaries. Parents reported students' absences by phone, and Mrs. Brown contacted parents by phone when the school had not been notified about absences. Students planned prearranged absences directly with their teachers.

Business manager Mr. Lester Hay and secretary Mrs. Millie Snyder operated the Business Office. They handled all matters involving school money or accounting, including the sale of activity tickets and the distribution of the Terror Trail and the Lever.

Secretaries of Palmer's office staff also included Miss Margaret Wiley, Registrar; Mrs. Mary Ellen Gosnell, Administrative Secretary; Mrs. Norma Stroud, Registrar Assistant; Mrs. Pat Chamberlain, Afternoon Receptionist; and Mrs. Naomi Downing, Morning Receptionist.

Fifteen student assistants sorted mail, cared for daily attendance cards, acted as monitors, and assisted with simple office records.

Answering the phone takes much of Mrs. Wynn Brown's time under the new attendance system.

Receiving calls is Mrs. Naomi Downing's foremost duty as receptionist.

Operating the marionettes during the second Christmas Assembly is Mickey Spencer, Secretary of Assemblies.

S.O. Sponsors All-School Speak-Outs

Better student body—Cabinet relations were a main issue on the 1968-69 Cabinet agenda. A major step was taken toward improved relations when the Student Organization sponsored all school speak-out assemblies for the first time. These assemblies were organized for the purpose of allowing the students to air their complaints and of publicly alerting the students to the activities of S.O. In this way Cabinet was alerted to the needs of the students and could more readily act upon them.

"Moving right along," Student Organization, with the help of faculty advisor, Miss Carol Chambon, made plans for several fund-raising drives. Among these included an Ugly Man Contest for the Student United Fund, class card sales, a Christmas Unlimited Toy and Food Drive, and the sale of treasury products. The money raised from some of these drives helped to erase the 1967-68 Cabinet debt.

A-Squad Football

Numerous injuries plagued the A-Squad Football team during the 1968 season. Off to a good start with two wins over the non-League teams from Alameda and the Air Force Academy, the Terrors nevertheless had unfortunate luck for the balance of the season. Among the injured players were Joe Wallace, Leo Moore, Al Mullins, and Donn Bair.

Captain Steve Hile and starter Al Mullins were chosen to play on the All-City team at the end of the season. Honorary captain Doug Kennedy boosted morale by badgering the opposing team into playing a worse game. Coach Bob McCandless, in his second year at Palmer, also urged the team on to the three A-Squad wins for the year.

At the Fall Sports Banquet in November, Doug Kennedy received the Most Valuable Player Award for the year.

New blood will be needed for the 1969 football season, since all of the A-Squad team players are seniors and will be graduating from Palmer in the spring.

Cross Country

The Cross Country team completed a moderately successful season under the guidance of Coach Adams and the leadership of captain Jerry Skalla.

Ron Elstun, a junior, was selected by the team as the Most Valuable Runner for the season. Elstun placed first in the Palmer Invitational, Widefield Invitational, and Fountain Invitational, setting new course records in both the Palmer and the Fountain meets. He then went on to place second in the Aurora Invitational, third in the Pueblo Invitational, fifth in the Pikes Peak Invitational, second in the South Central League meet and eighth in the State meet.

The A-squad Cross Country team consisted of five runners, all of whom ran the two mile course at the same time with as many as 160 boys running in one race at the larger meets. Meets were held on courses mapped out over parks or golf courses. There was also a B-squad race at every meet.

B-Squad Football

Palmer's B-Squad football team, under the direction of coaches Ron Spraggins and Gordon Pugh, led a winning season with a 4-win, 4-loss, 1-tie record.

The team rode to victory under the combined efforts of co-captains Tom Sandoval and Randy Edwards.

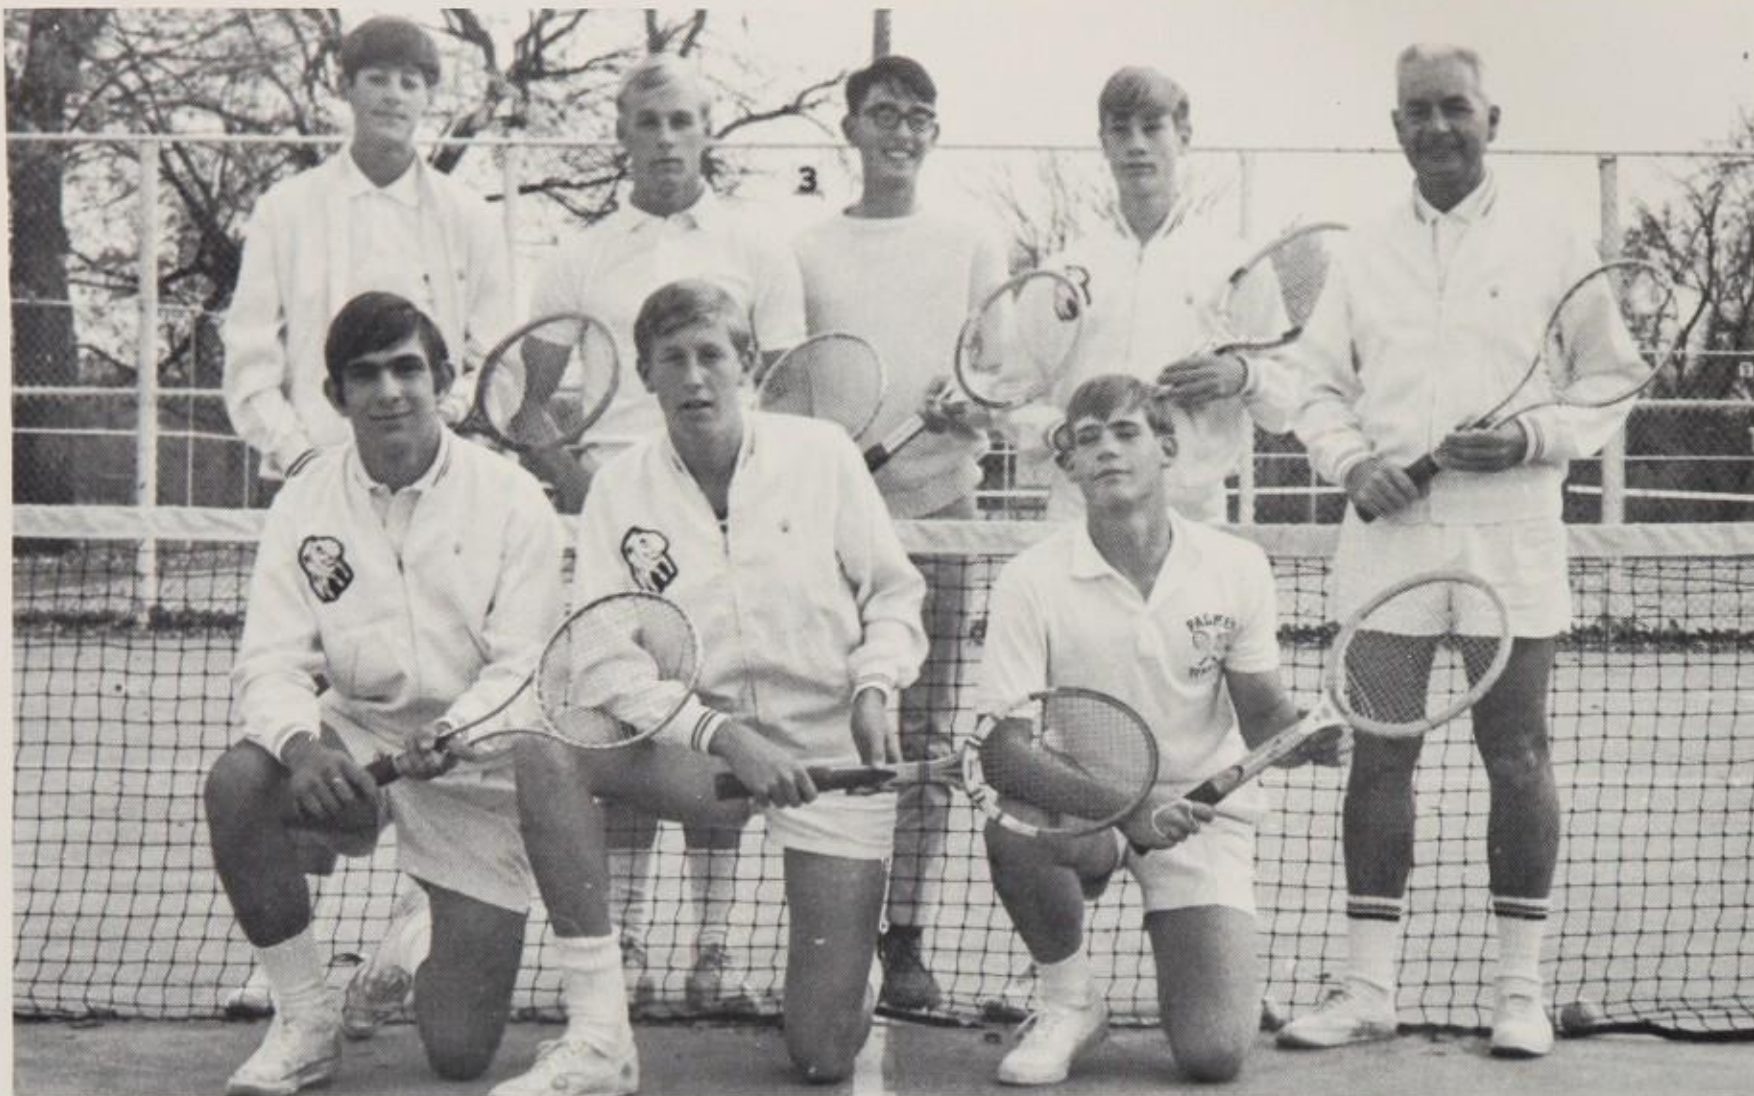

Leading off with a shutout against Harrison High, the Terrors went on to beat cross-town rivals Mitchell and Wasson. This became the second straight year that Palmer beat Wasson; the first victory over Mitchell. Bad luck hit player Larry Turner, who was injured in the first game and benched for the remainder of the season. In a fierce defensive battle the Terrors tied with high-ranked Centennial. A 21-13 loss to Pueblo Central ended the season.

Tennis

The tennis team compiled a 5-7 win-loss record, with most of the losses being close. A highlight of the season included the team scoring a 3-2 victory over Cheyenne Mountain High School.

The team had a good showing at the District Meet in Pueblo. Most of the members won their first round match. Captain Gary Custer advanced to the semi-finals gaining fourth place in the tournament and missed a bid for state by one place.

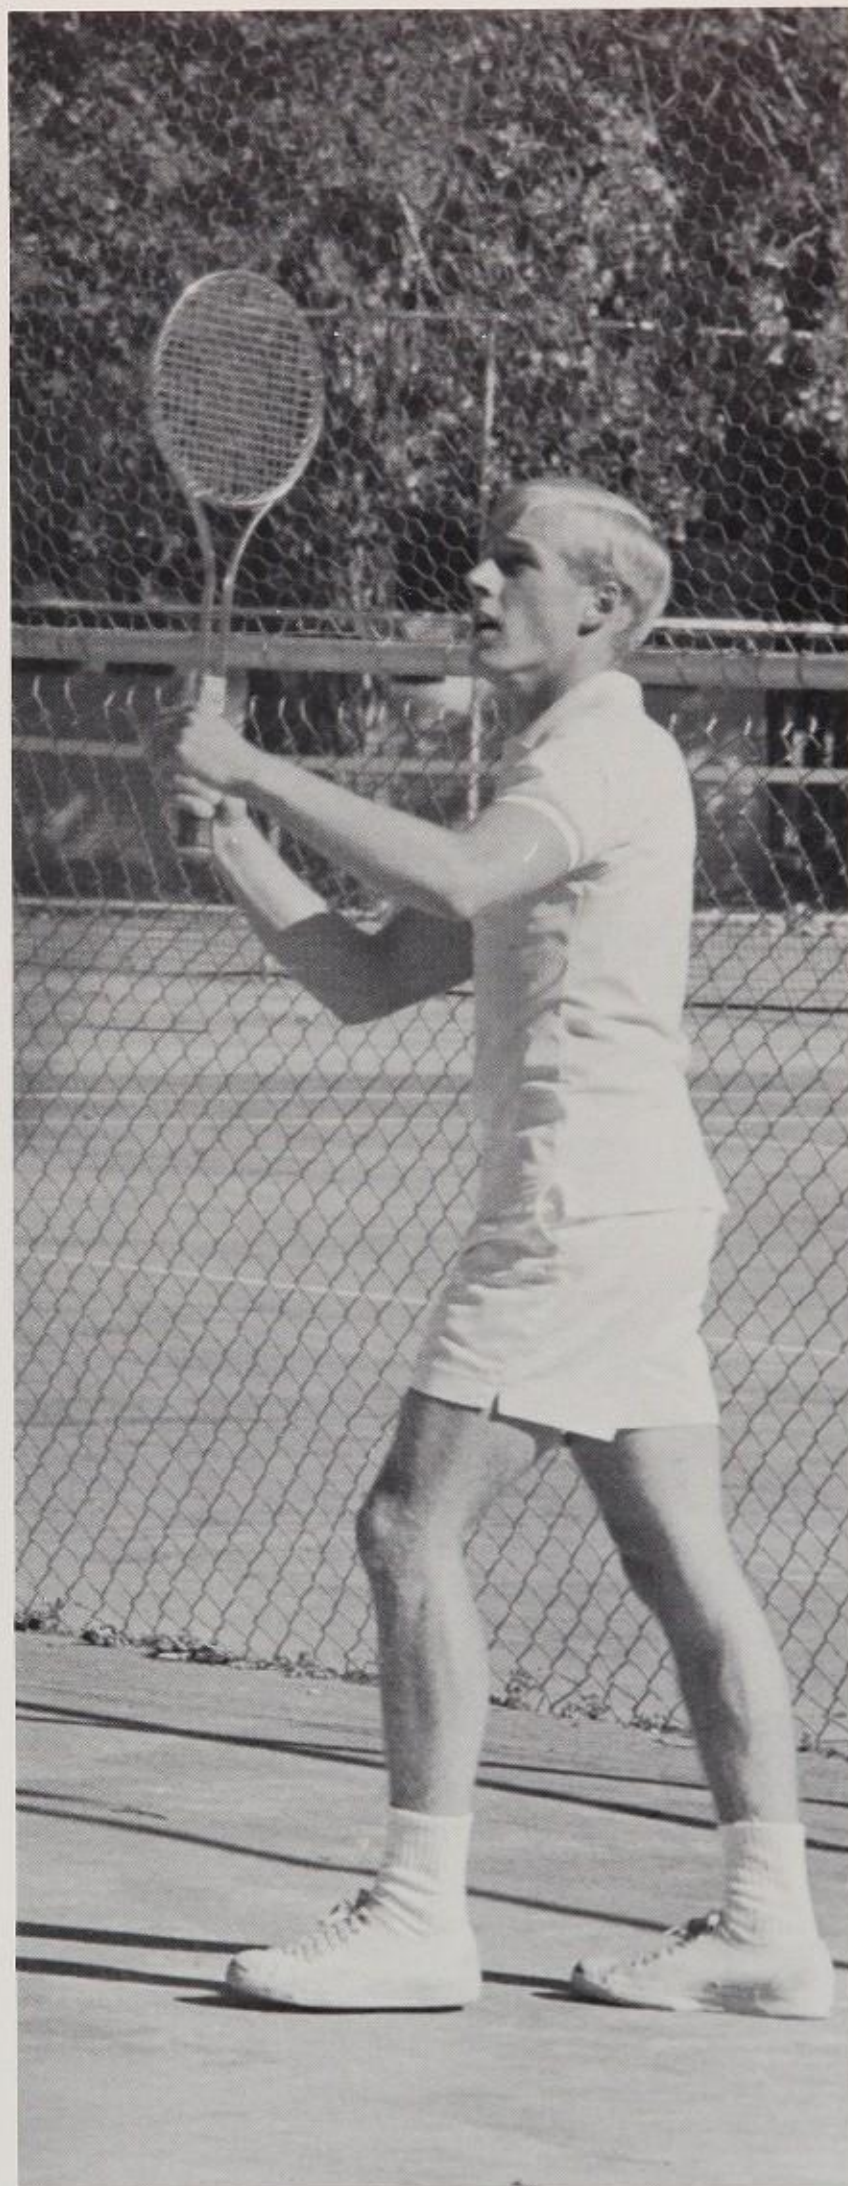

This year the Most Valuable Player award went to two people for their outstanding or most improved playing. Gary Custer and Rob Ryder received this award.

According to Coach Lloyd Samuelson the tennis team served more as a building season for next year's team. He stated also that he felt the team worked exceptionally hard and made the season worthwhile. Returning next year on the varsity team as seniors will be Dave Snepenger, Mike Armstrong, David Min and Paul Ricker.

The Sadie Hawkins dance finds Vickie Davis and Scott Murray awaiting the crowning of the "barnyard royalty."

Dogpatchers Head For Sadie Hawkins

Hillbillies decked in their Sunday-go-to meetin' best gathered at Palmer on November 22 for the annual Sadie Hawkins dance. Reigning over this girl-ask-boy affair were Karen Stidham and Dave Whittingham, queen and king.

The dance was the highlight of a week of Sadie Hawkins activities which included a corncob pipe and hillbilly hat day, a boot day, and a genuine hillbilly dress-up day. Rob Ryder and Peggy Carol presided over the selection of king and queen, who were nominated and selected by applause.

During a pause in the judging, couples clapped and sang-along-with-Rob old standard high-school favorites such as "She'll Be Coming 'Round the Mountain," and "Who Spit Tebacky on Gertrude's Wedding Gown?".

Costumes of every type imaginable were worn, such as long underwear, gunny-sack miniskirts, and the traditional patched jeans.

Holly Hop Features Winter Wonderland

Red and green crepe paper and pine boughs spread on the floor carried out the theme of the 1968 Holly Hop, Winter Wonderland, held in the girls' gym. The Quorum, a band from Colorado Springs, provided music for the entertainment of the dancers.

During the Winter Wonderland assemblies, the queen candidates were presented to the students. For the introductory assembly the candidates wore their coats, and in the final assembly they were dressed in party dresses. In the last assembly the Chamber Singers, dressed in costumes from the 19th century, sang traditional Christmas carols to help set the mood for the occasion.

The student body elected Juanita Hensley, escorted by Randy Wilson, as the queen of the Winter Wonderland dance. Her attendants were Glenna Buster, Sue Eivins, Georgia Moen, and Sally Vrooman. The queen was announced in the second assembly.

Judi Reigns Over Hearts and Flowers

Judi Biondini reigned as queen of the 1968-69 Sweetheart Dance held February 8, in the girls gym. "Hearts and Flowers" became the theme of the dance. Decorations consisted of brightly-colored flowers and light reflecting tin can lids hung from the ceiling. Student Organization collected the lids from the student body in the weeks preceding the dance.

The male members of the student body nominated Judi Biondini, Julie Heller, Jinda Norris, Debby Johnson, and Karen Stidham as candidates for the 1969 Sweetheart Queen. Escorts included Roger Beck, Brian Pring, Leo Moore, Charlie Parker and Dave Whittingham respectively.

On Wednesday, February 6, the queen candidates were introduced to the student body. Flowers and hearts covered the curtain while Betty Viola and Pat Musick created the mood by playing the guitar and the recorder. Following the introduction students from Palmer, Mitchell, Cheyenne Mountain, and Wasson presented the "Sing-Out Colorado Springs 1969."

Convocation Depicts the Birth of Christ

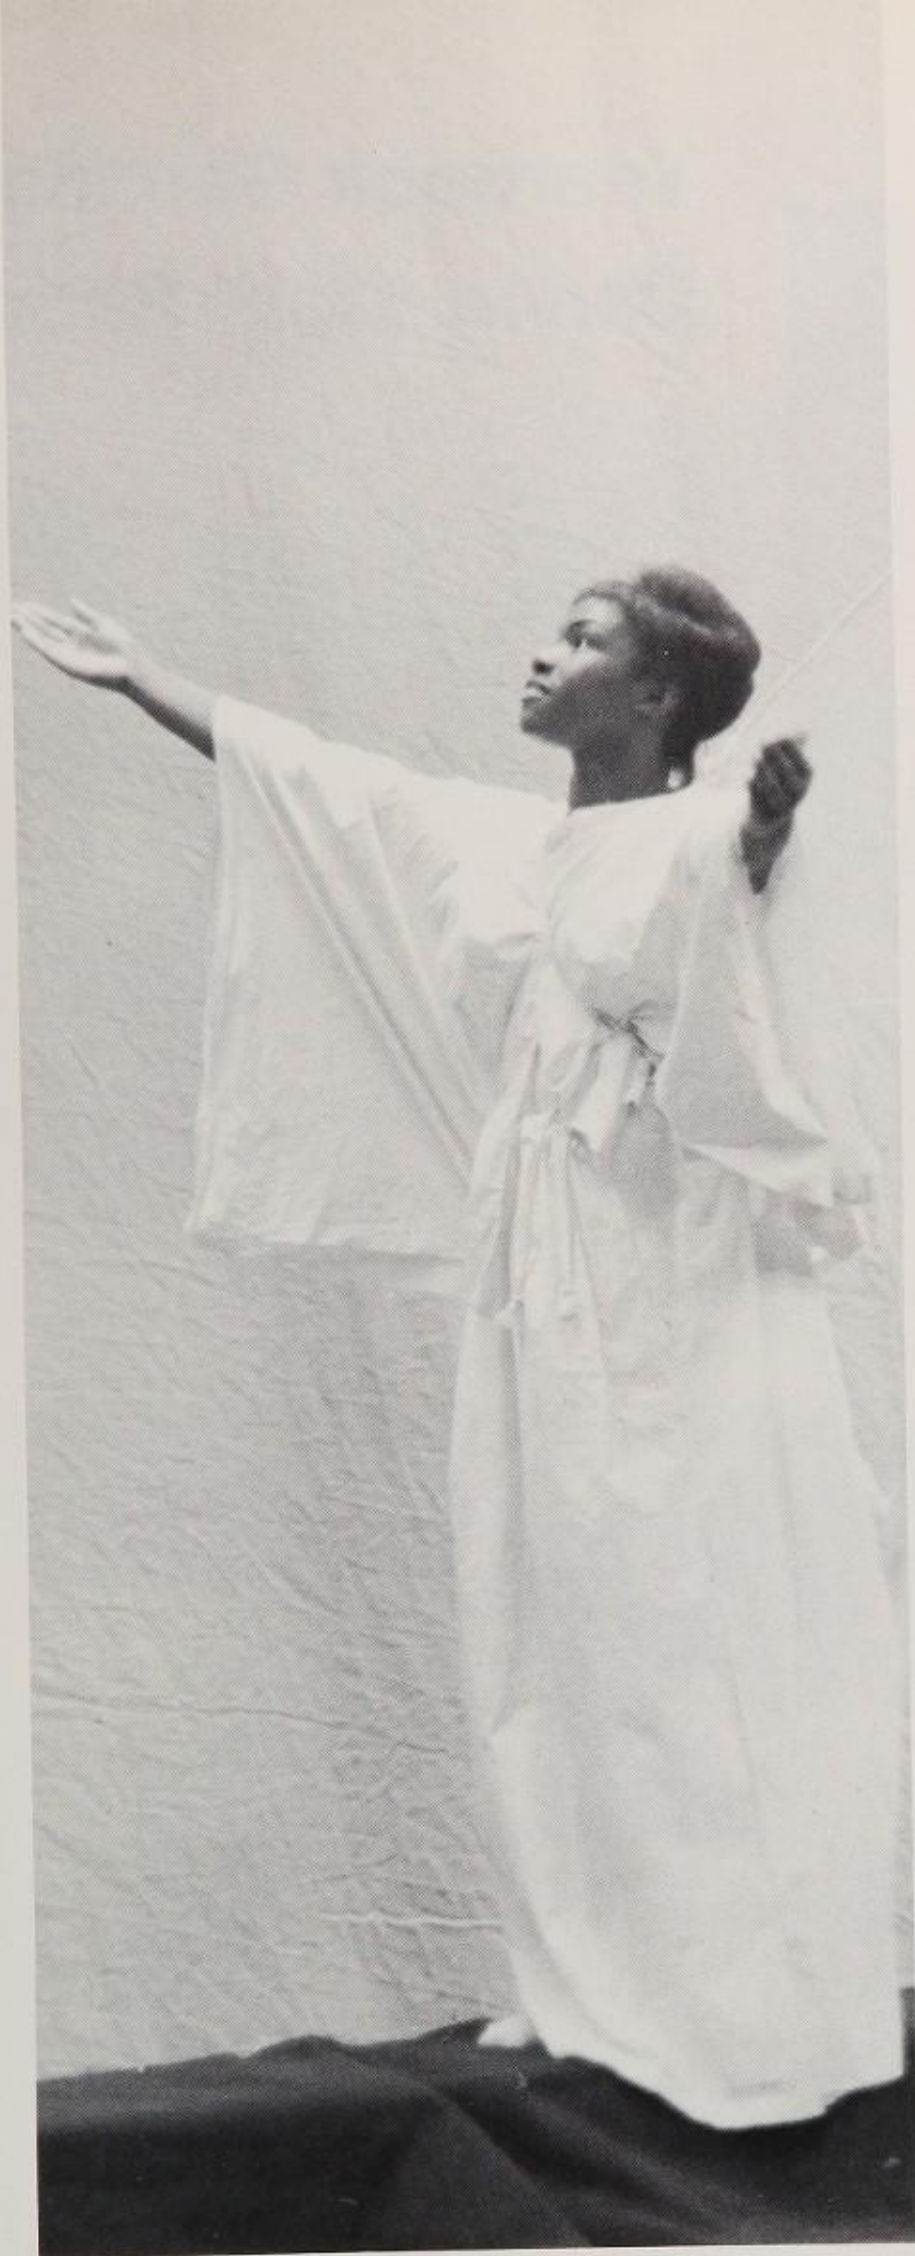

"Behold the day has come, saith the Lord, that I will perform that good thing which I have promised unto the House of Israel and unto the House of Juda." And thus with the promise of the Christmas season and in remembrance of the Nativity, the sound of music re-echoed throughout the halls of Palmer as the annual Christmas Convocation was presented in a combined effort of both the music and drama departments of Palmer High School.

Some of the highlights of this year's program included traditional Christmas carols sung by the Palmer Chamber Singers, three selections from Vivaldi's "Gloria" featuring a violin and vocal duet, Ron Nelson's "He Came Here For Me," Britain's "This Little Babe," and Geoffrey Shaw's "How Far Is It To Bethlehem." Other numbers included works by Rachmaninoff and Handel.

Members of Masque and Sandal depicted scenes of the birth of Christ while the Advanced Concert Choir, the Girl's Glee Club, and the Preparatory Choir provided the background for the Gospel Story as read by Doug Speer and Phil Rusk.

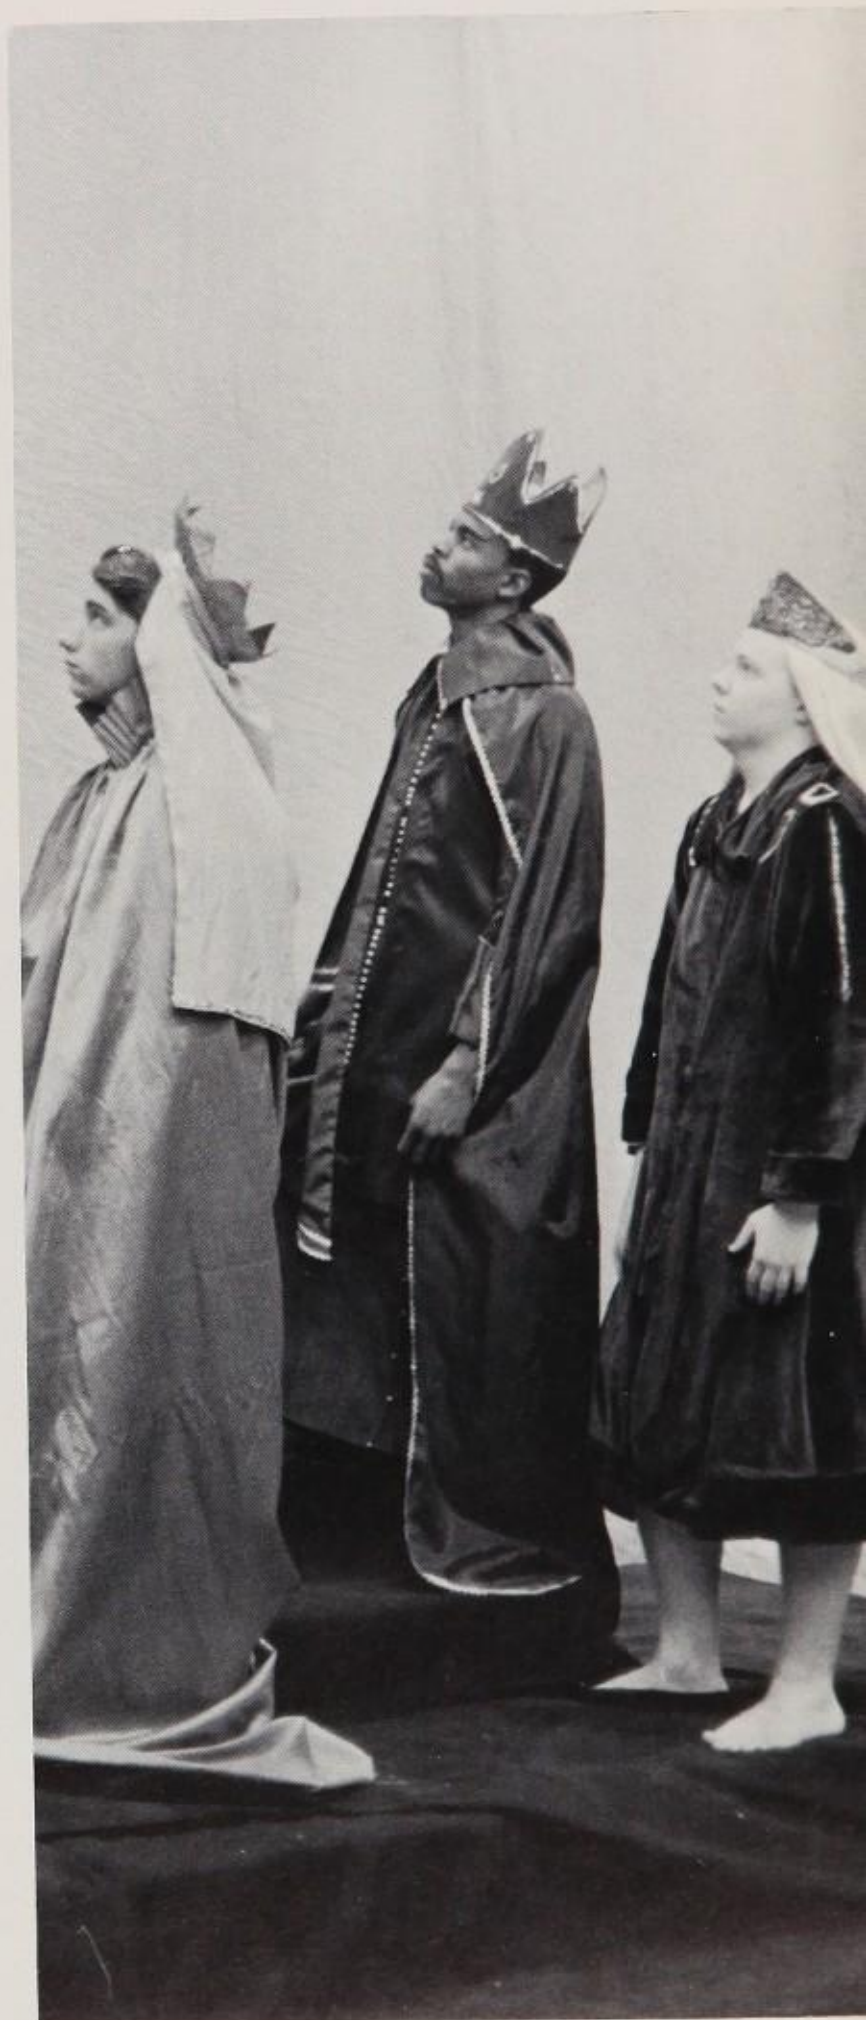

"Mary did gaze upon the babe saying, 'My Soul doth magnify the Lord.'"

"The angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth."

"They presented gifts unto Him: gold, frankincense, and myrrh."

Yearbook Sponsors

Dance, Light Show

Editor Sue Prior and Sponsor Mr. Gordon Baumann go over conflicting photographic work orders.

Flash! 500 watts of synthetic sunlight blasted out from aerial strobe lights, shattering the darkness and erupting the dance into a wild, psychedelic affair. The scene was the dance and light show presented for the student body by the Terror Trail staff. The music was provided by "The Deep Steam" and "The Electric Rainbow" presented the unusual lighting. This was one of many activities sponsored throughout the year by the staff in order to raise money for the 1969 book. Other projects included a bake sale, a sale of past yearbooks for those who had not previously purchased them, and an appeal to S. O. for its support.

A new book plan was chosen to replace the traditional one of five main sections. Sue Prior, head editor, and the staff, under the supervision of Mr. Gordon Baumann, selected to revise the book under three major sections, Fall, Winter, and Spring. In this manner, the events of the past year would be pictured as they happened and made more memorable for the students.

Lever Includes Literary Insert

Under the direction of Mrs. Betty Jo Turnbaugh, the Lever sponsored a literary insert, consisting entirely of compositions submitted by the student body for the perpetuation of literary creativity and artisanship. The extent of these entries included poetry, essays, short stories, creative art work and photography. This insert was also under the advisory council of Mr. Doug Jenkins.

The lever staff also sponsored a number of money raising projects due to the inaccessibility of sufficient funds. These included such things as a ski movie and a number of bake sales. Due to these insufficient funds, the Lever was forced to follow an irregular schedule, providing an issue only when the number of advertisements necessary were available.

The 1968-69 Lever staff was headed by Veronica Knapick and Glenna Buster, editors. At the end of the year, through the efforts of both yearbook and Lever, a publication banquet honoring outstanding students in journalism was held.

Drama Club Aids Special Activities

Members of Masque and Sandal participated in the Christmas Convocation (tableaux), Terror Legend, and the State Drama Festival. They also collaborated with the music department in the production "The Sound of Music." "Anyone can join, but it takes hard work and perseverance to gain the hours needed to rise from a groundling to a master," said one of the club's members, Dorothy Ulrich.

Members gained recognition in the club by working on various committees such as lighting, makeup, scenery, costumes, and props. Membership in the club ranged from thirty to forty members by the end of the year.

Officers for 1969 included: President, Doug Speer; Vice President and Secretary, Pat Musick; Secretary of Publicity, Jennifer Jones; and, Secretary of Records, Kristie Nease. Miss Bush, the drama director, sponsored Masque and Sandal for the 1968-69 year.

Expert Secretaries Aid FSA Members

Professional secretaries provided a "Big Sister" policy for members of the Future Secretaries of America at Palmer. This policy, wherein a professional secretary took an advanced student to a downtown office for a day on the job, was one of "invaluable experience," according to the club's sponsor, Mrs. Elaine Osborne. The National Secretary's Association, which sponsors and encourages the club, has branches in the United States, Mexico, Canada, and Puerto Rico.

Members of FSA became acquainted with business methods and what was expected of them if they pursued a business career. According to one of the club members, "FSA acted as a giant stepping stone in the secretarial direction."

Honor Society

Greets Newcomers

Attended by approximately 75 students and their parents, the initiation ritual of the Palmer High School Chapter of the National Honor Society took place on the evening of January 14, 1969, in the cafeteria. Chosen on the merit of grades and recommendations of their teachers, the Honor Society consisted of 5% of the Junior class and 10% of the Senior class.

The creed of the Honor Society reads as follows: "The Honor Society acts as a stimulus for Scholarship, a builder of Character, and a developer of Leadership, as an opportunity for Service."

These ideals were elaborated upon by the officers, and with them came an explanation of the responsibilities and the installation of new members by the Society's sponsor, Mr. Greathouse.

Projects for the year included a tutorial service in which Honor Society members acted as tutors for other students and a form of TV's College Bowl, in which Palmer's honor students competed with members of other area high schools. Four students represented Palmer in this competition. They were chosen for their work in a specialized field such as science, math, English, or music.

Officers were comprised of Charles Straeb; President, and Anda Zirnitis; Secretary.

Math Club Surveys Twin Lakes Area

Math Club members fulfilled another session this year with district math meets against Wasson, Mitchell, Harrison, and Air Academy high schools, lectures by area college professors, and the undertaking of several field trips.

One of the field trips, organized by Mr. John Muller, the club sponsor, took place at his cabin site in the Twin Lakes area near Deckers. The purpose of this outing was to give members experience in surveying, making use of principles and skills acquired in class. After the survey was completed members took part in a barbecue to complete the day.

Serving as officers for the year were Brian Evans and Eddie Mantz, president and vice president, respectively.

Czechoslovakia Revolt

Members of the International Relations Club attended meetings, lectures, and films on a state-wide basis this year in their attempt to generate interest in foreign affairs among high school students.

Here at Palmer the club listened to a presentation of area residents, Mr. and Mrs. Selaney on the recent invasion of Czechoslovakia, which the Selaneys prepared from firsthand observations while stranded in Czechoslovakia during the revolt.

At the University of Denver on May 15, members attended and participated with other high school and college students in a discussion on India at the annual State Conference on International Relations.

Besides making a T.V. appearance entitled "Teens Meet the U.N.," club members also attended and helped set up a model U.N. General Assembly lasting two days in Greeley to complete their school year activities.

During Pep Club's annual Fall Sports Banquet, Steve Hile and Al Mullins received the "Gazette Telegraph Award." Mike Monroe, a member of the Gazette Telegraph staff, handed out the awards and acted as guest speaker of the evening. After the dinner those boys who participated in a fall sport got their letters from the sports coaches. Parents, pom-pom girls, the cheerleaders, and the members of Pep Club, also, took part in the evening.

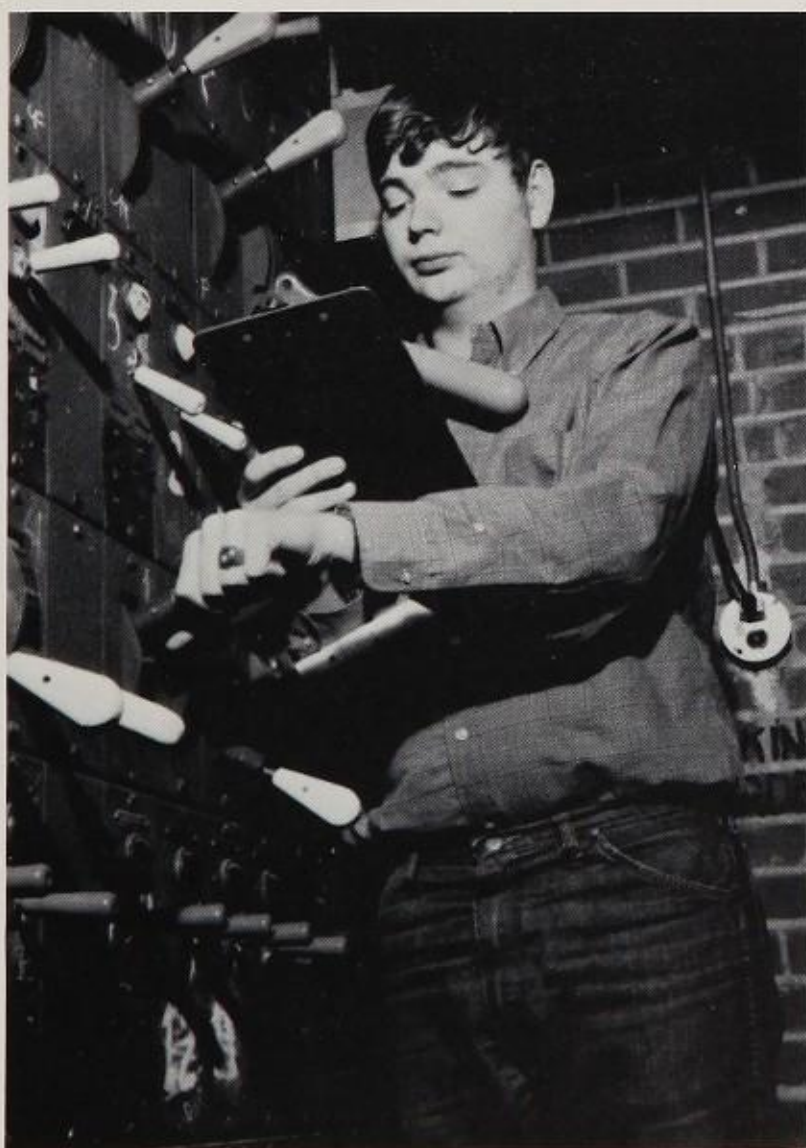

Pep Club, also, participated in the Homecoming activities. The club's float, titled "Predicted Victory" and showing a gypsy looking into a crystal ball which foretold victory for the Terrors, won first place in the Brown Division. As in previous years, the club and its flagbearers marched in the Homecoming parade. Club members sold mums for the Homecoming dance, "Under the Big Top." The money from the sale of these flowers added to the club's treasury.

In the spring outstanding members received stars on the basis of attendance at games and evidence of school spirit. Pep Club, also, gave its annual award to the most outstanding senior boy in sports.

Thespians Advance Dramatic Arts

Palmer's troupe of National Honor Society of Thespians, whose purpose is to advance dramatic arts and give experience to those interested in the dramatic arts, helped produce three performances throughout the year and used profits to sponsor and finance Masque and Sandal Club's plays, which greatly benefited the entire school. Members of Thespians also contributed their personal time and services to aid Masque and Sandal, and tallied play-hours for those students who displayed exceptional work either on or back stage in order to gain admission into the National Thespians. The troupe also sponsored a drama workshop for the benefit of sophomores and other interested students. Club members taught basic stagecraft and drama techniques to new drama students.

Doug Speer and Kristi Nease served as troupe president and vice president, respectively, this year.

FTA Students Attend Convention at CSU

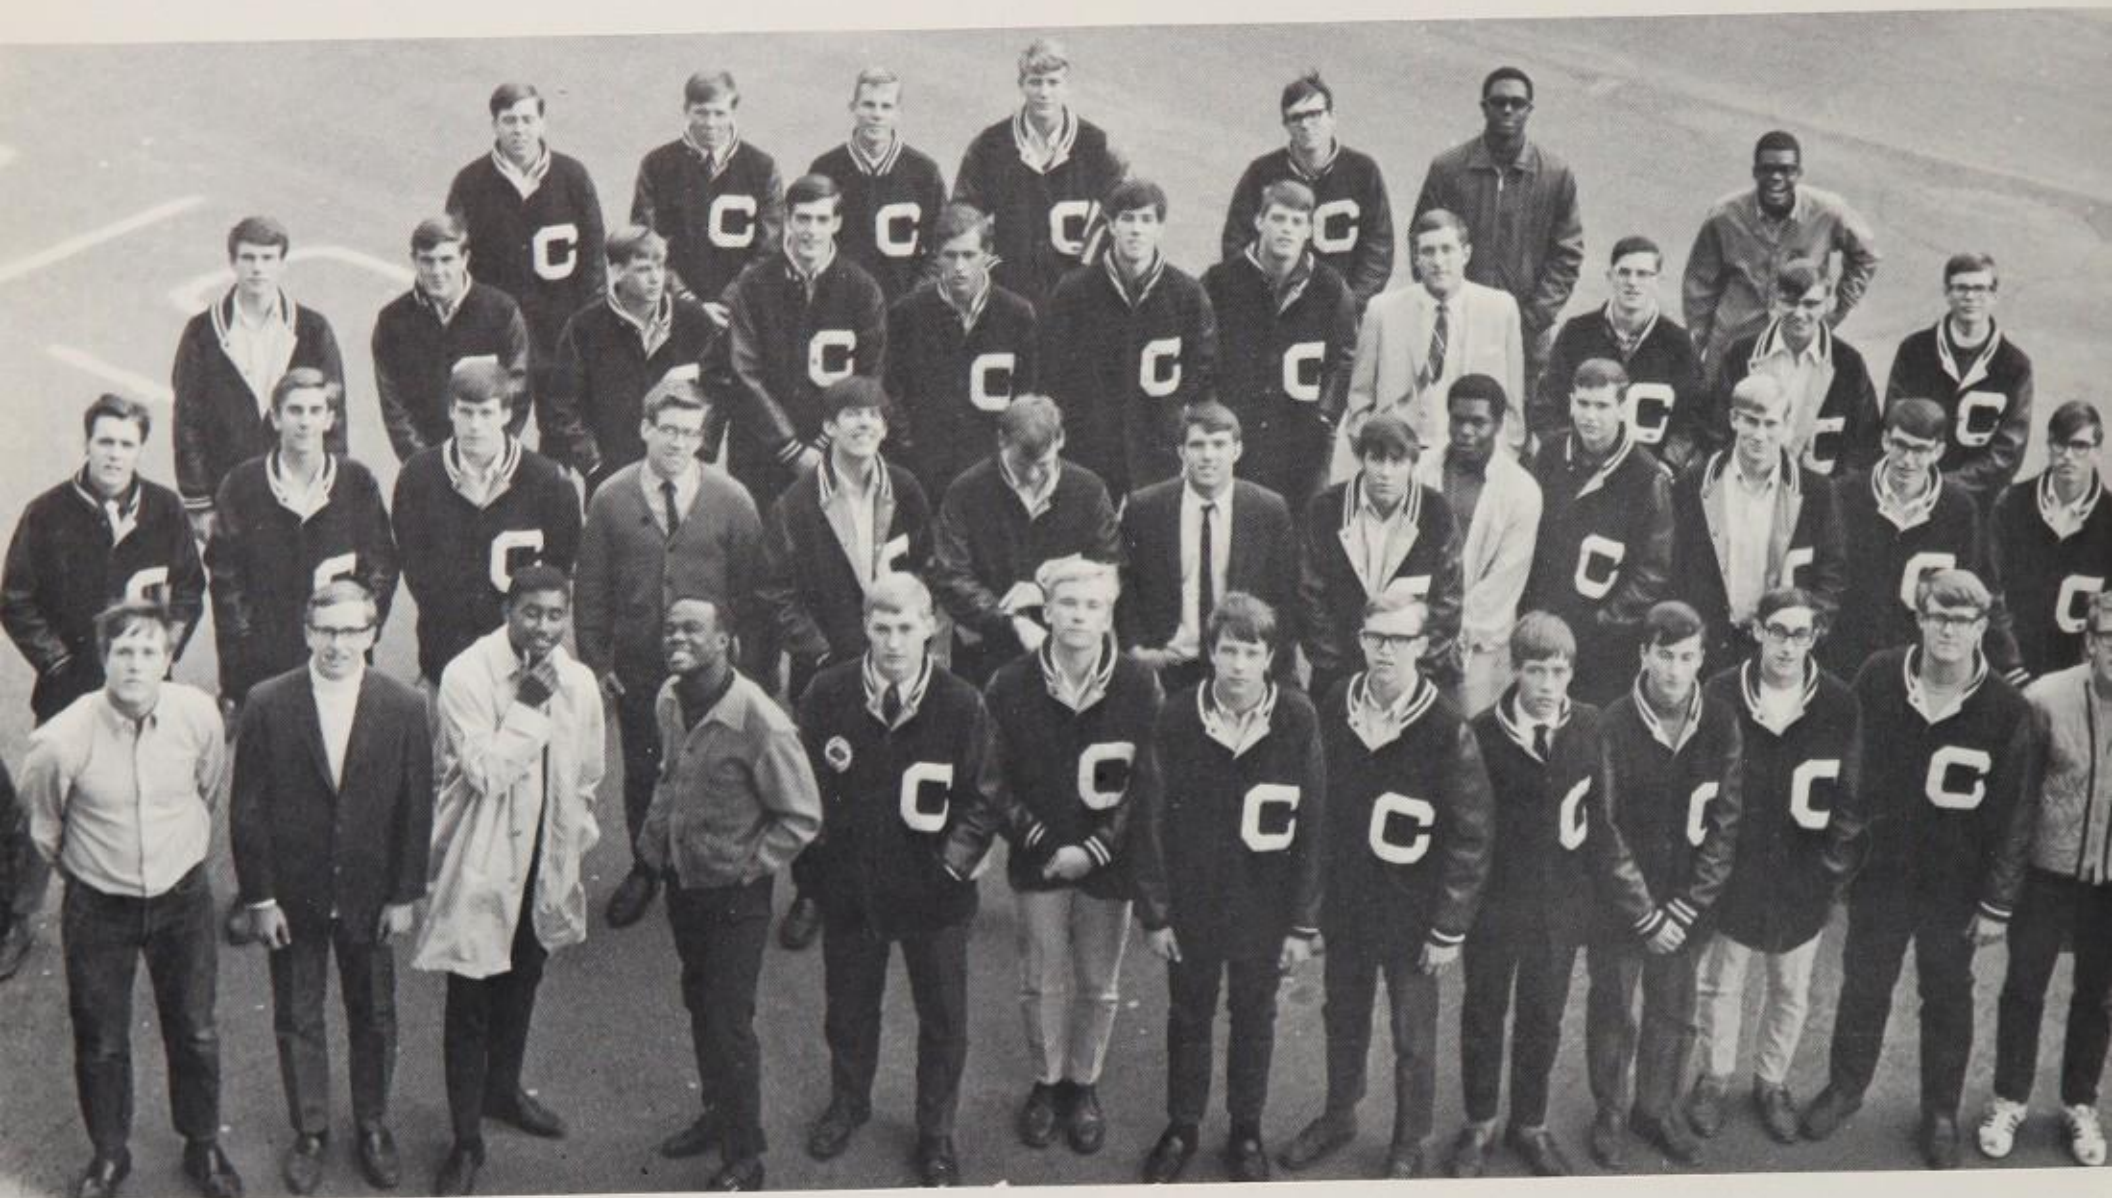

Members of the Future Teachers of America voiced their opinions and shared ideas about their clubs at the state-wide convention in March. Held at Colorado State University in Fort Collins, the convention lasted an entire day. Students running for state officers gave their campaign speeches during a general assembly in the morning, then the members broke up into small discussion groups where they were permitted to ask questions and discuss problems in their clubs. After lunch the students voted for the 1969-70 state officers and went back to discussion groups. During the final assembly, the election results were announced and the convention was adjourned.

For Brown and White Day, the Palmer Future Teachers of America sold corsages and boutonnieres. They also hosted a get-acquainted party for the Future Teachers of America clubs from Wasson and Mitchell in December, and during the winter months, Palmer members held a Snow Party.

While their parents look on, new members of F.T.A. are initiated to the club.

Sponsors for the 1968-69 Future Teachers of America Club are Miss Esther Sallee and Mr. Russell Eacker.

C-Club Adds Pep To Terror Spirit

"Chickens can't play football!" "We've got a rope; we've got a tree; now all we need is a referee!" "Watermelon, watermelon, watermelon rind, just look at the clock and you'll see who's behind!" From the pep assemblies to the football fields, the sounds of C-club's pep chants echoed throughout the '68-'69 year, as C-club cheered Palmer Terrors to victory.

Other activities in keeping with C-club's tradition to promote and encourage athletics and improve relationships between schools included the annual C-club picnic. Baseball, football, and eating were only some of the activities enjoyed at this picnic while C-club Terrors whooped it up. Another activity of the C-club was the homecoming float competition in which members came away with the booby prize.

"Germanisten Gesellschaft," the German Club, held an "Oktoberfest" in mid-October modeled after the traditional one held in Munich. Featured at this festival were the "Schuplatterders," a group of folk dancers who are members of Germania, the Colorado Springs German Club. The German Clubs from Wasson and Mitchell also came to the "Oktoberfest."

In September, Fashion Bar permitted the German Club to hold a bake sale outside its main doors. The club members baked a large number of German pastries for this event. The profit made enlarged the club's treasury by $65.00.

A bicycling hike and a German picnic held in the spring rounded off the year's activities.

Latin Club Attends Denver Convention

Attending the state convention became one of several events of the year for "Romani Hodierni," the Latin Club. A number of members attended, participating in such events as contests, classical displays, and workshops. The members won awards in several of the contests which were held.

Around Christmas time the club gave its annual Saturnalia festival which originated from the Roman holiday in honor of Saturn. Latin Club turned this into a Christmas party where Latin carols were sung, and the Christmas story from the Bible was read in Latin. Gifts were given for the children in St. Francis Hospital.

During the year Latin Club gave two banquets together with Mitchell and Wasson. The main banquet took place in the Spring when members of the Junior High Latin Clubs were auctioned off as slaves to the members of the high school clubs.

District Officer Elected From D.E.

Several honors came to DECA at the District Contest held on January 16 in Lamar, Colorado. At this event Tyrone Acker placed first in the sales demonstration contest, and judges voted him one of the two outstanding participants in the contest. Gibson Discount stores awarded him a $100.00 scholarship. Other members who won awards were Manning George, placing second in job interview and application, and Ron Coca, winning the election for the office of district treasurer. This became the first year Palmer had a district officer elected from its student body.

After the selection of new members, DECA held an officer and new member initiation dinner at the Holiday Inn. The club invited the parents of members and employees to attend this affair also. The club served refreshments at the dinner and showed slides explaining DECA. Other meetings included guest speakers who spoke on such topics as "Positive Thinking," "Limitation on Free Enterprise" and "Setting and Reaching a Goal." Bob Froh, Robert Adelman, and Don Willis, among other speakers, presented topics at these meetings.

Members of DECA explained their club on radio and television programs and answered questions about the club. They also spoke at the Sertoma Club and various other civic organizations.

Horsemanship Club Begins at Palmer

Interested Palmer High students started the new Remuda Club during the 1968-69 school year. This new club is composed of those students interested in horses and their care. The main activities of the club included horseback riding in the Pikes Peak region and hearing a veterinarian talk on the proper care of horses.

Members collected firewood to sell at fifteen dollars a cord in order to raise necessary funds for the club. Members also paid dues of one dollar in order to help the club collect additional money.

The club used this money for horseback riding equipment such as saddles and tack, the club's page in the yearbook, and various social events.

Remuda Club held meetings once a month and club members occasionally held parties in their homes. One important event included a dinner held in the Mission Bell.

A. V. Begins Film Backwards

Silence filled the auditorium as students awaited the Arts and Humanities film showing of Becket. To the dismay of the students and members of the audio-visual class the film began upside-down and backwards. This was not the fault of the audio-visual department, however, since the film had been delivered to the school before it had been rewound.

Students in the audio-visual class met every day and supplied classrooms with movie projectors, carousels (slide projectors), filmstrips, tape recorders and students to operate the equipment. The members worked in groups of three or four during each class period and earned one-half credit per semester.

Mr. William T. Perry took over as sponsor for the 1968-69 school year. Mr. Perry worked with the color television cameras in the newsroom for a local news report on the rehearsal of the student production of "The Sound of Music." Mr. Perry also acted as sponsor for the Palmer photography club.

Publicity Campaign Starts Ushers' Year

Ushers Club officers for the 1968-69 year are Hiroshi Clubs, president; Paula LeBaron, vice president; and Alyce Nance, secretary of the treasury.

Reorganization began the year for Ushers Club. A revision of the constitution and establishment of requirements for members were primary topics. Members also started a new publicity campaign with posters which simply stated "I M R U" or "Be Patriotic-Join Ushers Club."

During the year the club held three social events. A get-acquainted party started the year off and enabled the club members to meet and recruit new students. Other events include a Christmas party and an end-of-the-year party.

Members served the school at queen assemblies, Christmas Convocation, plays, graduation and other minor meetings. The club also served the community by assisting at symphonies, operas, and other functions held in the Palmer High Auditorium.

Officers for 1969 included Hiroshi Clubs, president; Paula LeBaron, vice president; and Alyce Nance, secretary of the treasury.

Deaf and Blind Join Industrial Ed

Palmer's Industrial Education Club started off the year with an active membership of fifty students, nine of whom were students at the Deaf and Blind School in Colorado Springs.

The first project of the year was to clothe all the members in blue blazers with the club insignia sewn on. Money for this project came from a dance that the club held on the twenty-seventh of November.

The Industrial Education Club was the only one of its kind in the city and was the first in the state to be affiliated with the American Industrial Arts Student Association, the national organization located in Washington, D.C.

A-Squad Guests at Quarterback Club

During the football season the Quarterback Club invited the A-squad cheerleaders to be special guests for lunch. The girls, accompanied by Coach McCandless, received membership cards in the club and following the luncheon did the cheer "Two Bits"

Throughout the 1968-69 season the cheerleaders supported every sport from football to golf with traditional as well as ten new cheers including "Terror Cry." They also helped raise school morale by participating in various pep assemblies including one in which they switched uniforms with the B-squad and Pom Pon girls.

As an addition to their traditional brown and white uniforms the cheerleaders wore brown wind-breaker jackets with "Terrors" sewn on the back in white letters.

Marsha Robertson, head, Glenna Buster, Juanita Hensley, Gail McKinley, and Sally Vrooman participated as A-squad cheerleaders. Mrs. Patricia Best acted as sponsor for the girls.

"Brush your teeth with Sani-Flush, you won't even need a brush!" The 1968-69 Pom-Pon girls put their school spirit to music to arouse enthusiasm for the Palmer—Wasson football game. During the Laugh-In assembly they wore multi-colored blouses under their uniforms and instructed the student body in the uses of Comet and Sani-Flush. These Pom-Pon girls attended all this year's A-Squad sports and participated in pep assemblies. They also purchased new sweaters with brown stripes on the sleeves to go with their brown and white pleated skirts.

The B-Squad cheerleaders attended not only B-Squad sports, but Junior Varsity and A-Squad sports as well. They also purchased new uniforms consisting of brown and white pleated skirts and brown vests which they alternated with white sweaters.

Half-Time Show

"Up, up and away, in my beautiful, my beautiful balloon . . ." As the Palmer band played, the Terrorette drill team marched through their routine and loosed a cloud of white balloons at the end of their Palmer-Wasson half-time show. The drill team, sponsored by Mrs. Patricia Clapp specialized in precision marching and drilling.

In order to raise money for uniforms, the drill team sponsored car washes, bake sales, candy bar sales, and booster button sales. This year they were able to purchase white pom poms to aid them in their performances.

Sophomore, junior, and senior girls were eligible to try out for the drill team, and clinics and try-outs were held in the spring.

This year's drill team officers included Jocelyn Hunter, president; Nancy Yannias, vice president and Ann Geddes and Vicki Schneider, captains. Karen Hains, Syd Johnson, Pam Little, Marilyn Montano and Jinda Norris were rank leaders.

Basketball

Palmer's 1968-69 varsity basketball team took second place in the South Central League for the third year in a row. The Terrors started out the season on a slow note losing to Alameda of Denver, but came back the next weekend to take third in the Colorado Springs Invitational Tournament. From there the Terrors began battle in the rugged South Central League where they won two victories over Pueblo South and Mitchell before losing to Central, the eventual league champion, in an overtime. This was the only game the Tribe lost in the first round as they went on to win the final four of the first round games against Trinidad, Centennial, East and Wasson.

In the second round Palmer started off the same beating South and Mitchell before falling to Central for the second time. The Terrors then captured their second win over Trinidad, but fell to the Centennial Bulldogs a week later, the third and last league game the Tribe lost for the season. They then went on and walloped the rest of the league contingents. The Tribe ended the season with a commendable league record of 11-3, one game behind Central with a 12-2 league slate.

After beating Cherry Creek with a 57 to 49 victory and Aurora Central 88 to 81 the Tribe went on to the State finals in Denver. Contenders for state were Palmer vs. Alameda, Widefield vs. Greeley, Regis vs. Central, and Manual vs. La Junta.

Junior Varsity

The 1968-69 Junior Varsity Basketball team, under coach Joe Simansky, began the season with a 58-53 victory over Alameda. Leaders in the free throw percentage race included Tony Exum and William Lott. Bruce Moore helped greatly in the defense and rebounding department while scorewise John Duvall lead as an outstanding player. At guard position Roger Washington and Tony Exum proved to be good leaders. Many of these boys will go on to help the varsity next year.

Intramurals

The 1969 Intramural Basketball season brought many changes from the old program. For the first time the participating teams were divided into two leagues, the Brown league and the White league.

The Brown league was made up of mostly seniors while the White league had four teams composed of underclassmen. At the end of the regular season the two leagues battled each other in a playoff to determine the overall champions. Watts Warriors became the eventual champions followed by Bill Bartlett's Boys and the Beckhouse Boys.

Most valuable players chosen from each league along with ten allstars competed with the faculty in the Faculty Allstar game. In the Brown league Clark Bouton received the honor and Billie Lillie in the White Division.

Hockey

Although Palmer's hockey team under the direction of Mr. Michael Provenzano finished this year's season with a 2-10 win-loss record, the overall year was really rather successful considering the inexperience of the players. There were no injuries and players, although new to this sport, adapted themselves readily. Because of this accumulated experience Mr. Provenzano predicts a much better season next year.

The outstanding players of this year included captain Jeff Williams, center, and his assistant Doug Trapp, goalie. Both of these members received honorable mention at the Winter Sports Banquet in March. Other members included Steward Grange playing wing and defense, Dave Hoff wing, Dave Tyree defense, Dave Snepenger wing, and Dave Garret who carried the Terrors to victory in an overtime game against Mitchell.

Wrestling

Last year's wrestling season got off to a slow start but managed to pick up enough momentum to finish sixth at the Brighton tournament, seventh at the Rocky Ford tournament, and ninth at the district tournament.

Under the leadership of captains Roger Beck and Joe Stearns, Palmer's wrestlers staged many close matches such as the ones at Trinidad and the Air Force Academy. Plagued by injuries to Charles Parker, Ken Weaver, Jose Alvarado, and Randy Edwards, the team held about the same strength as last year although Maurice Weaver and Russell Farris were badly missed.

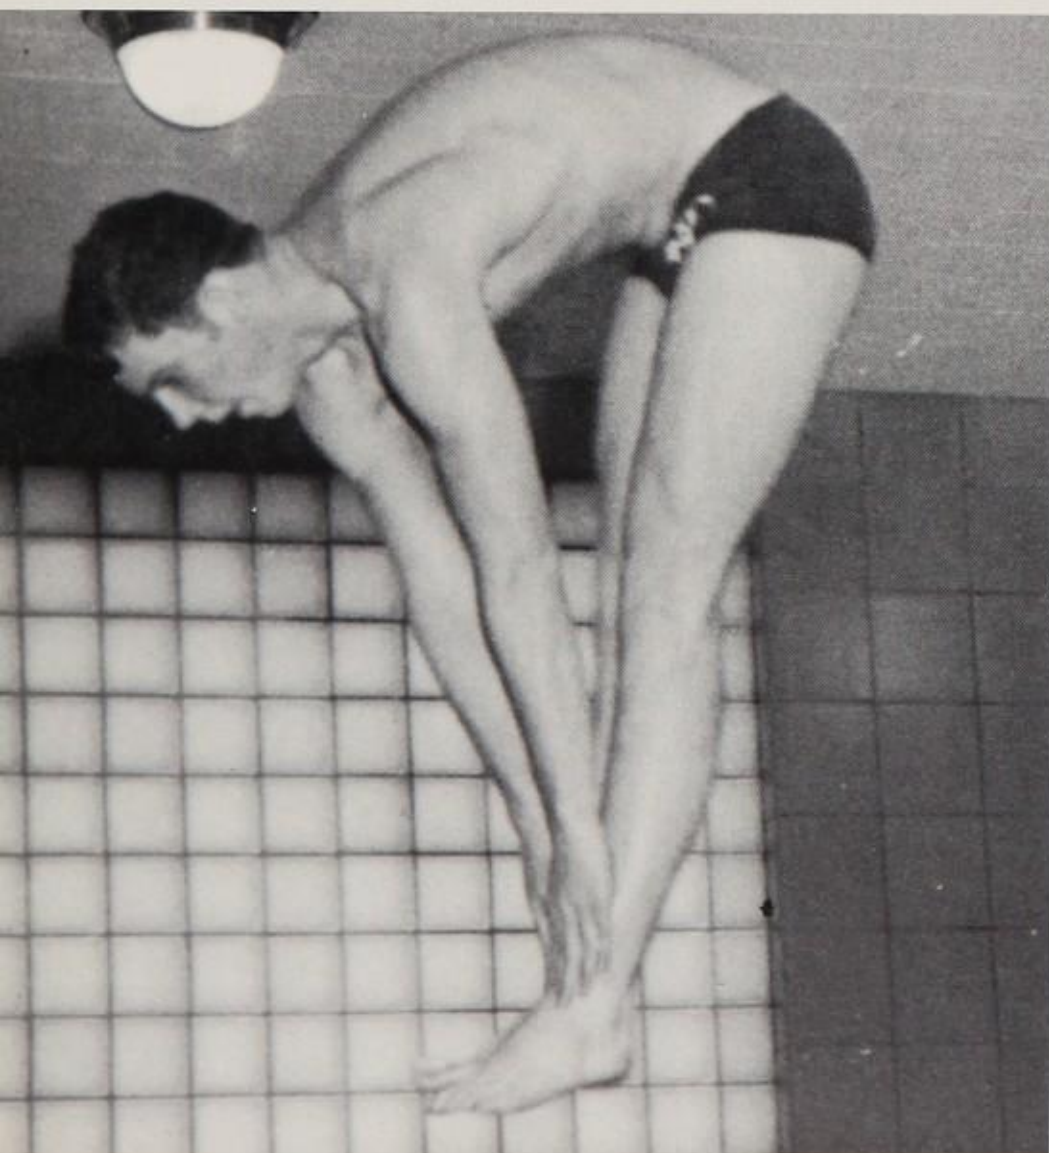

Outstanding players included Al Beck, who finished third in the Brighton tournament and fourth in the district tournament; and Dave Smith who finished fourth in the Brighton tournament and fourth in the district tournament.

Swim

The Terror swim team competed this year with only five seniors. All five served as captains of the team sometime during the season. They included Mike Burroughs, Walter Tew, Richard Dassaro, Tom Perkins and Mike Michelson.

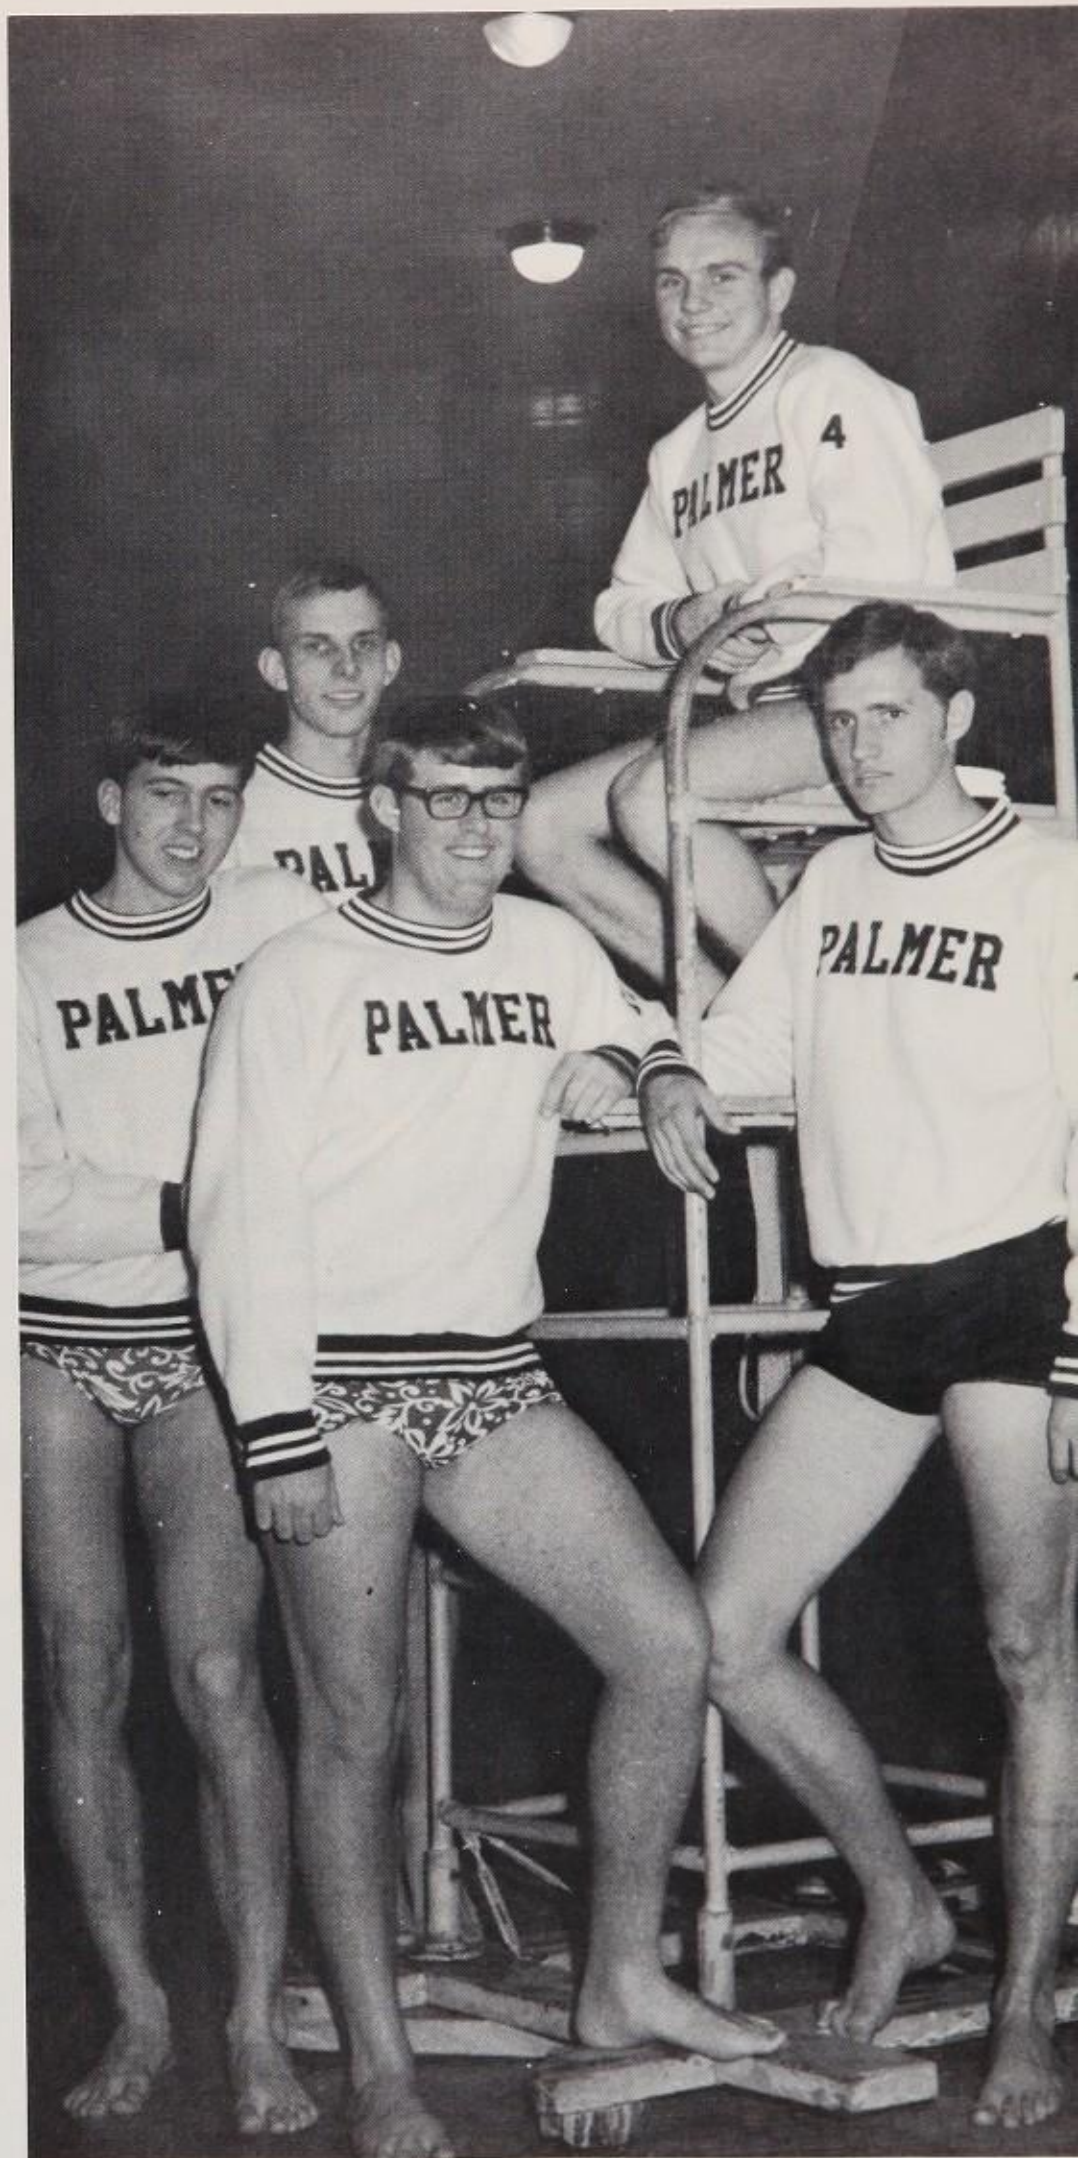

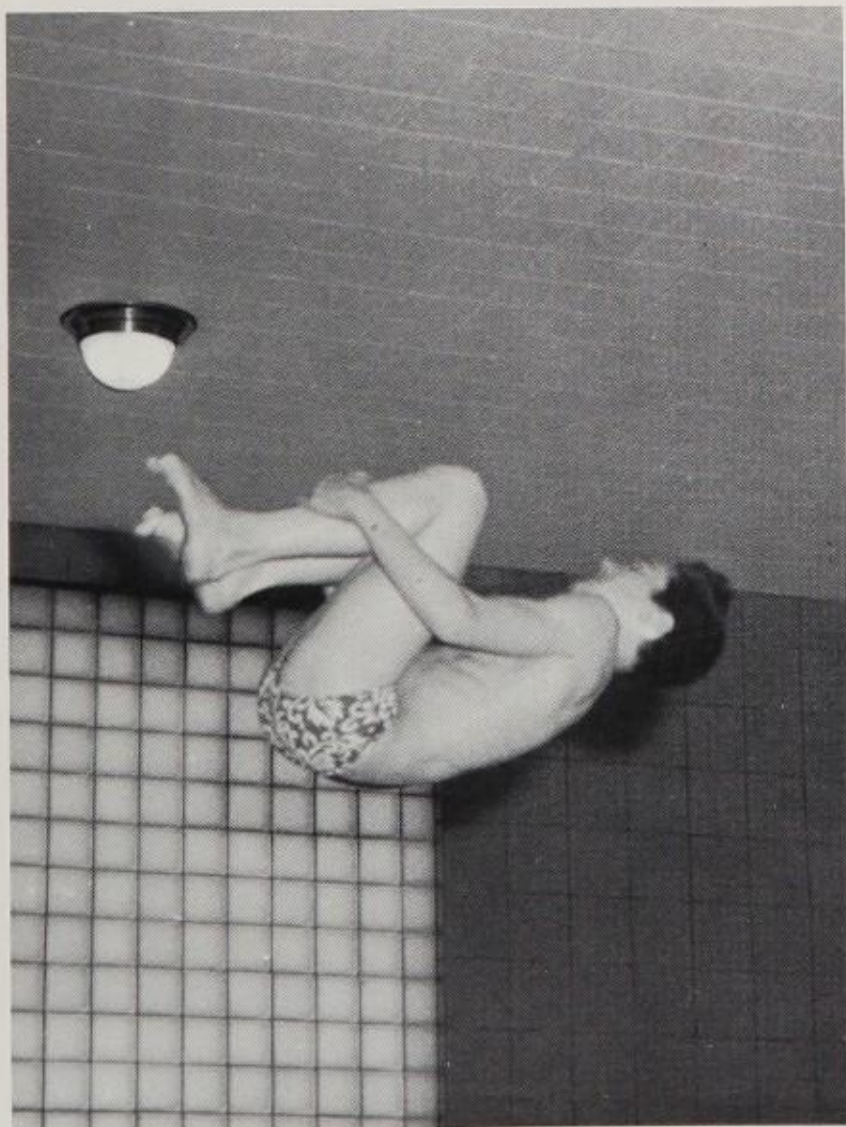

Although the team lacked competition experience since half of the team was composed of sophomores, it progressed well according to Coach Don Macha. He felt that the team had a lot of potential and next year will be one of the more powerful teams in the league.

The swimmers scored one victory, resoundingly defeating Harrison. The sophomores beat Mitchell team at a sophomore meet, 52-37. Although Palmer placed tenth at the District Meet, one member of the team qualified for the state competition. Mike Burroughs represented Palmer in the 400-meter free-style race.

Returning next year as some of the more experienced swimmers will be Marty Johnson, Stan Bowlin, Bruce Brossman, Richard Godec, Sam Hunter and John Jennings.

"A Thousand Clowns"

For its spring production, Palmer High School gave "A Thousand Clowns," written by Herb Gardner. This comedy featured an unusually small class and a biting satire of the life of the twentieth century man. It concerns the main problems we face today—society's grasp on a person's life. The play evolves around Murray Burns a relatively young man who is not fond of work and who has not worked in a long time. To complicate this Murray has a 12 year old nephew to support. A school psychologist comes to Murray's apartment with a social worker. When they see the carefree life Murray and his nephew lead they notify the authorities. Murray goes to his brother Arnie to seek advice and plead for a job. After several tormented scenes, Murray begins to understand his emotions better and discovers he is in love with the psychologist, Sandra Markowitz.

Forensics Team Rates High in State

Consisting of 15 active speakers, the Forensics team traveled to different state high schools every other week from September to March representing Palmer High School. Coached and directed by Mr. William Brandenburg and Miss Jackirae Wycoff, the team rated high in all meets as well as in the district and state meets. The outstanding members of the team were honored with awards at the Awards assembly in June on the basis of their performance throughout the year.

Speaking on a variety of subjects including debate, discussion, original oratory, interpretation of oratory, humor, poetry, and drama, and extemporaneous speaking, the team members were given ratings of superior, excellent, good, and fair.

Quill and Scroll Initiates Hear Panel

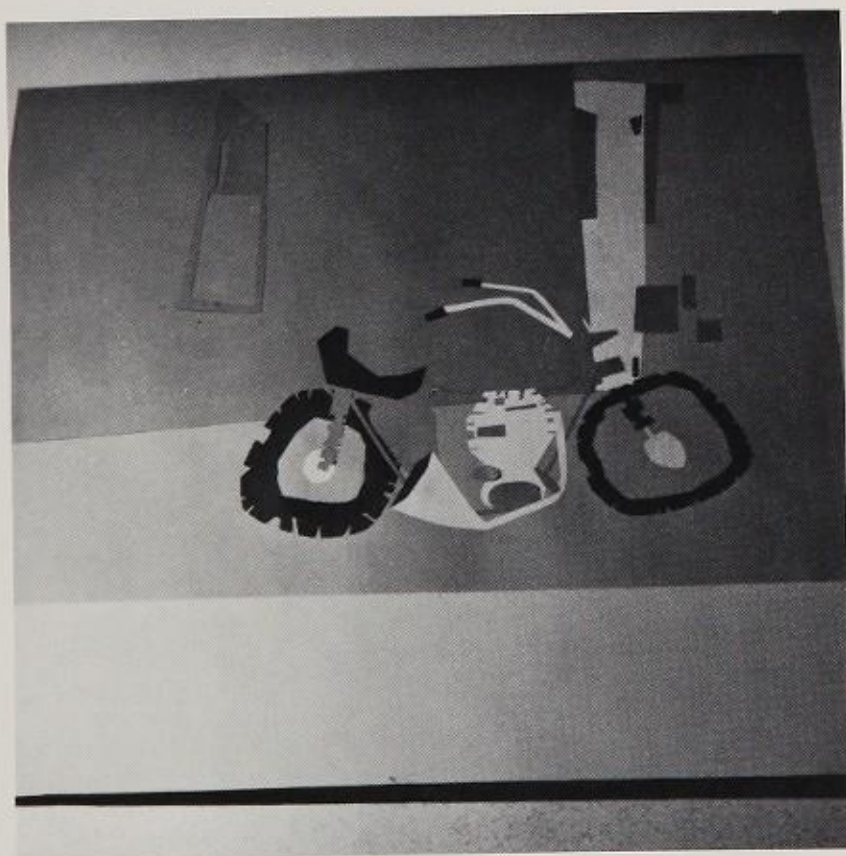

Eleven Palmer students took part in Quill and Scroll initiation ceremonies held jointly by Palmer, Mitchell, and Wasson at Mitchell High School, February 19. Sixty-seven initiates listened to a panel including Mrs. Nell Womack Evans, Miss Elizabeth Shafer, Major McRany, and Mr. Kurt Gable, all outstanding journalists.

Quill and Scroll, an international honor society for high school journalists, set as its goal the recognition of journalism students and the creation of an interest in literary work. This organization offered membership to those students who ranked in the upper third of their class and who did outstanding work on Lever or Terror Trail. Quill and Scroll members also publish the Asterisk, a literary magazine containing student writings and art work.

This fall Palmer, Mitchell, and Wasson art students applied their creative ability in creating a block-long mural on the protective walk surrounding the new Bell Telephone Building.

The Publicity Committee derived benefits from the art classes which devoted many hours to making posters for the halls. The Student Lounge displayed student artwork created especially for that purpose.

Chamber Singers

Travel To Madrigal

During November the Chamber Singers attended the Sixth Annual Madrigal Festival at Colorado University in Boulder. At this festival they participated in the massed chorus of other groups from that area. While attending the lectures and demonstrations, they sang "Talk Not To Me," "Let Go, Why Do You Stay Me?" "Happy, Oh Happy Me."

Since the Chamber Singers organized just two weeks before the festival, this experience did much toward clarifying the style of small ensemble singing in the minds of the singers. They also participated in the Winter Wonderland Assembly, dressed as carolers from the eighteenth century. Hosted the exchange of Mitchell's Madrigal during the same assembly.

Throughout the year, the Girls' Glee practised its repertoire to assist the Advanced Choir at the annual Christmas Convocation and other musical undertakings. They also participated, in combination with the other choirs at Palmer, in the student Christmas sing-along assembly.

Other projects of the Girls' Glee included raising funds to help send the Advanced Choir to St. Louis to represent Colorado. They obtained these funds by selling raffle tickets and soliciting donations from interested out-of-school choir supporters.

Prep Choir Works To Develop Skills

Singing sacred and folk songs, the Preparatory Choir prepared for the Christmas and Spring program which it gave this year. Mr. Jerry Teske, the music director, and the Prep Choir worked for the improvement of the Advanced Choir in voice and harmony.

Mr. Teske stated, "The Prep Choir has worked for a basic goal, a goal to develop skills necessary to solve the musical problems inherent in the various compositions."

The Preparatory Choir is the source of Palmer's Advanced Choir. Although they have the same Convocation as the Girls' Glee Club, they became very different in that the Preparatory Choir advanced to the ranks of Advanced Choir. Next year, Mr. Teske will have a new Advanced Choir to work with.

Choir Travels To St. Louis

Under the direction of Mr. Jerry Teske, the Advanced Concert Choir traveled to give a concert at the Southwestern Music Educators National Conference in St. Louis Missouri. The Choir stayed in St. Louis for a week in March and during this time it gave concerts for nearby high schools and colleges.

"The Sound of Music" filled Palmer's halls as the Choir worked in cooperation with other departments to present the story of the Trapp family. The play took place on October 29th and 30th, in the Palmer High School Auditorium. Mr. Johnson, a student teacher, directed the entire production.

The Choir represented Palmer as it provided sacred music at the Air Force Academy Protestant Chapel, November 3. During the 11:00 service the Choir performed a Bach chorale, "Rise My Soul;" "Lord I Love the Habitation of Thy Temple" by C. H. Graun; and "Agnus Dei" by Hans Leo Hassler.

Orchestra Initiates New Procedures

Several innovations for the Palmer High orchestra came into being during the 1968-69 school year. For the first time orchestra held rehearsals at the same period as concert band. This was done so that the orchestra could easily borrow wind players from the band when needed and left more time for Mr. Delaney to concentrate on the string players.

Another new procedure came about when the Palmer orchestra gave for the first time an all-orchestra concert on November 20, 1968. This concert featured the entire Brandenburg Concerto no. 5 by Bach. Other numbers included selections from Mozart and Mindemath.

In February the Palmer orchestra joined with the orchestras from Mitchell and Wasson for an all-city Youth Orchestra Concert at Armstrong Hall.

Students Achieve "Top of the Nation"

Six Palmer students attained the Colorado All-State Band and the "Top of the Nation" band for 1969. Those representing Palmer at the Colorado All-State Band included Kathy McCann and Janie Wohler. Brian Evans, Denver Hayes, David Lutze, and Deloris Tapey participated in the "Top of the Nation" band at Adams State College, Alamosa, Colorado.

In December the stage band presented a concert for the Urban League in the Palmer auditorium. The band gave two concerts during the year, one in February and one in May in combination with the orchestra. In April the band attended the State musical festival at Cheyenne Mountain High School.

Under the direction of Mr. Dwight Dale, the 102-member band marched in the Homecoming parade, performed during halftime at football games and musically supported the hockey and basketball teams.

Baseball

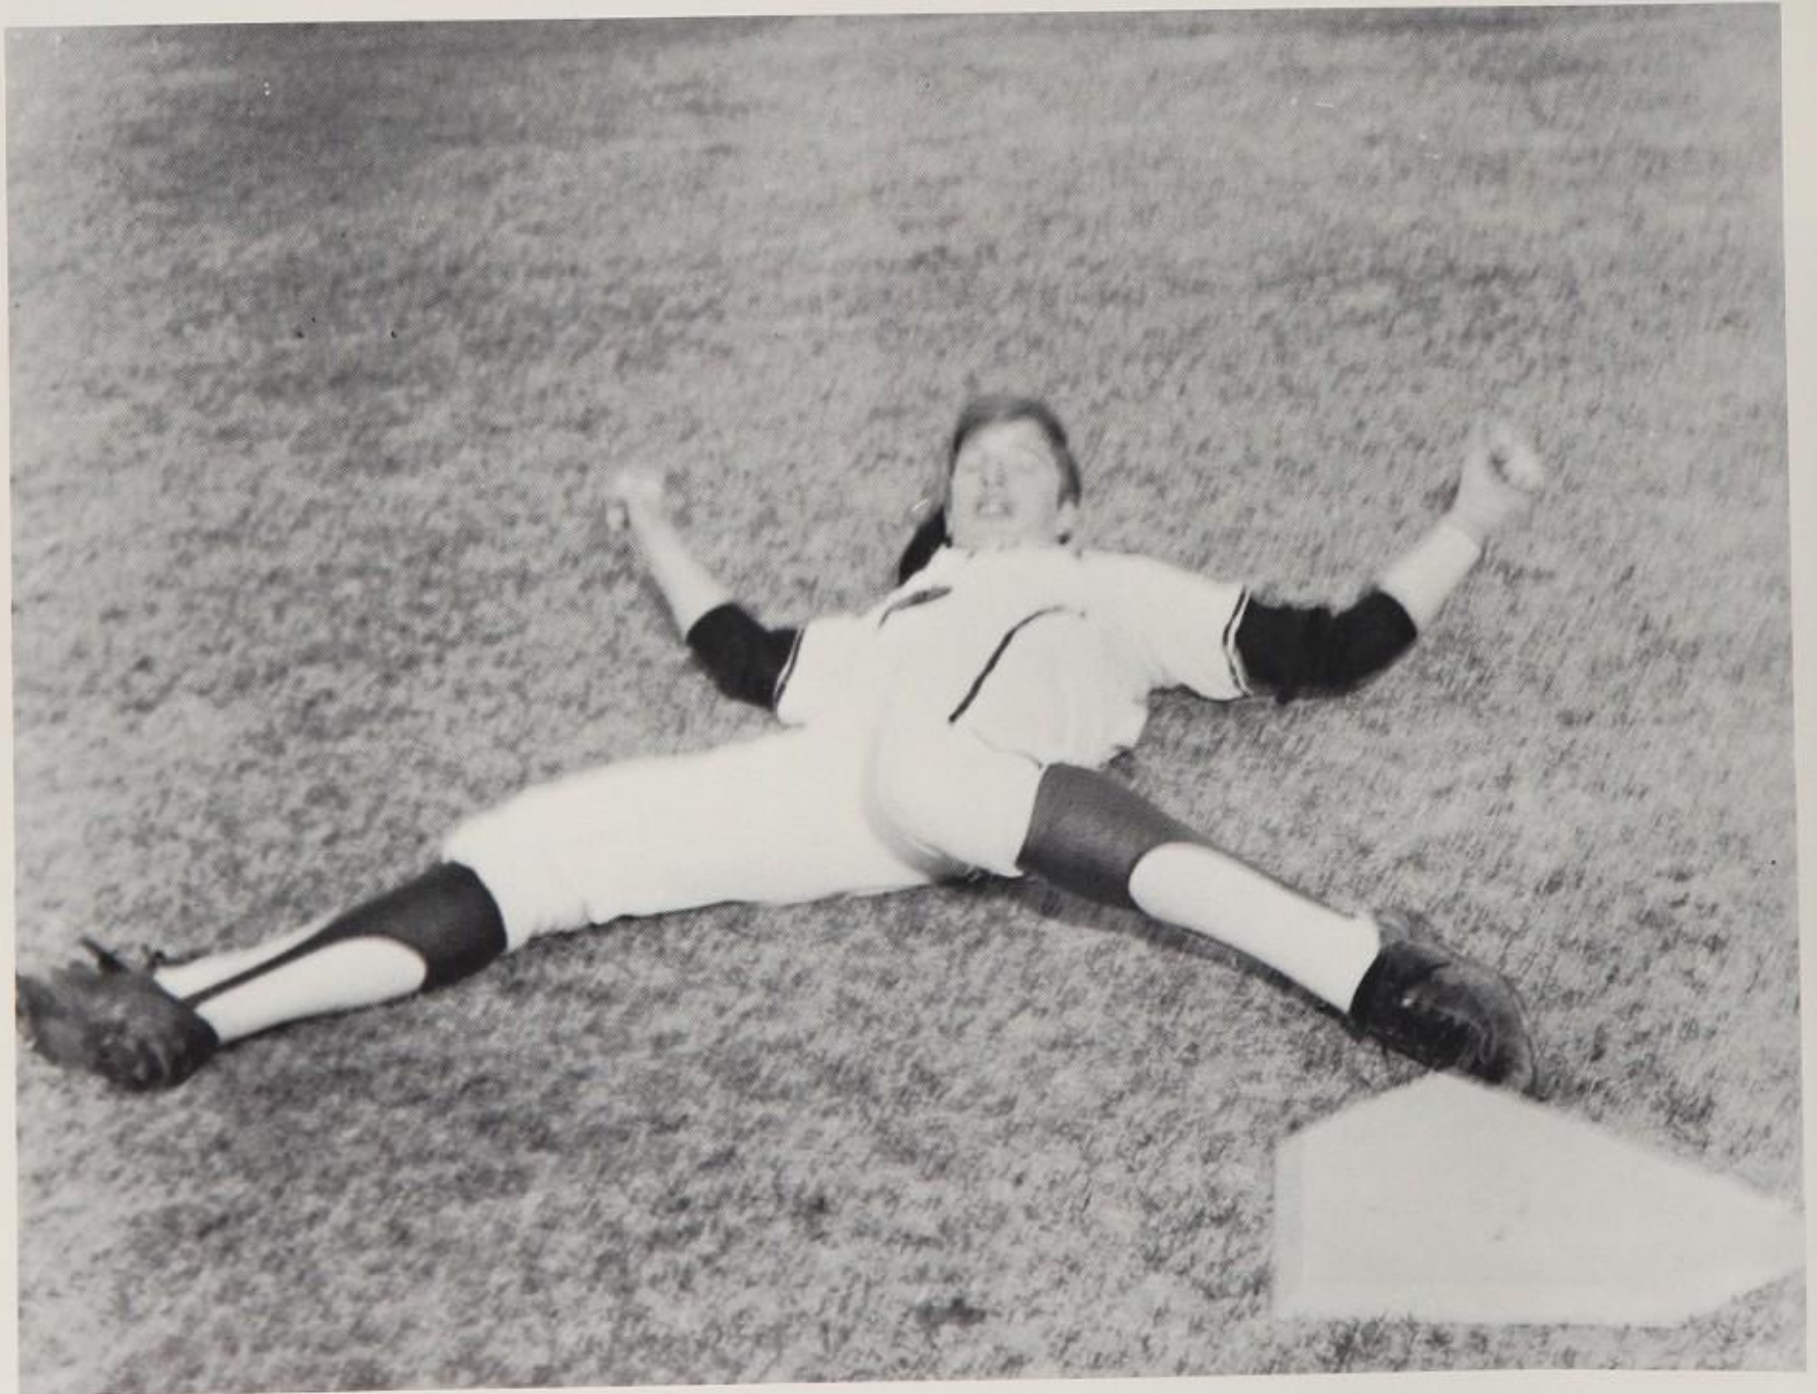

Palmer's rookie team of 1968 became the veterans of 1969. Many of the star players of the '68 spring baseball team came back to try again for a place in the South Central League. Two straight years of standing in the League pushed the Terrors to even greater efforts to capture the title for a third consecutive year. Seniors made up the greater part of the team and provided valuable experience needed to make their '69 team a success.

Denver Manual came down to the Springs to battle the Terrors on March 22. This officially opened the spring tournaments for 1969.

Track

Last year the Terror track team finished their dual and triangular meets with six wins and one loss. The season was rewarded with many highlights. Some of these included wins over Billy Mitchell, Widefield, Cheyenne, Harrison, Air Academy, Fountain, St. Marys, and Wasson.

John Duvall broke a meet record in the high jump. Other highlights were a second place in the Pikes Peak Relays, Centennial Invitational, Sophomore Invitational, and a first place at the C.S.U. Invitational. The tribe finished their year with a 13th place at State.

This year the track season started out with a successful campaign with the help of Miss Jackie Wycoff, Mr. Wes Ketchem, and Coach Bob Henry.

The campaign consisted of many posters, pamphlets, and assemblies. This effort was made in order to bring the interest of track out into the open for the up coming year.

1969 became Mr. Dale Holt's third year as golf coach. One of the most qualified and experienced coaches in the South Central League. Mr. Holt coached high school golf for ten years in Oklahoma. He graduated to head coach position and athletic director at Phillips University also in Oklahoma. From there he moved to Colorado Springs and Palmer High School as a mathematics teacher and golf coach.

Girls' Gymnastics

Girls Advanced Gymnastics changed this year in several respects. The class, which began as a general gymnastics class, was revised with the removal of several girls who did not qualify. The remainder of the girls improved enough during the year to be labeled gymnasts. Each girl learned the compulsory routine and worked out one of her own to use at the district and state meet which were held here in Colorado Springs this year. The girls were also graded on their routines in class. Miss Trina Jackson, sponsor, based the grading on each student's ability and improvements in gymnastics.

Gymnastics

Last year, Palmer began its season by placing second at the district invitational gymnastics meet. All through the year Palmer had been getting ready for their State competition. One of Palmer's best meets was with Wasson. Just before the end of that meet, Gary Fooshee and Doug Fitzjarrell did a spectacular job on tumbling. Their routines pushed Palmer ahead to beat Wasson by two points. The team went to State and placed second and fourth on the side-horse. Palmer ended its season with a sixth place at State.

This year Coach Dave Moulton had been pushing his boys by grading their routines twice a week. Charlie Parker, Rick Barcelon, Don McCoy, Doug Fitzjarrell, and Rudy Juvera were only a few that presented a threat at the State gymnastics meet. The team did a fine job this year under the coaching of Dave Moulton.

If you

anywhere to go,

you might not go

Whatever you want to do with your life, don't wait till tomorrow to do it. You might just wait around so long that tomorrow never comes.

Size up the opportunities now. If you're going on to college, visit your nearest Timken Company plant—in Canton, Columbus, Bucyrus, New Philadelphia, and Wooster, Ohio, or Colorado Springs, Colorado. Find out what it takes to fit into a job in finance, engineering, sales engineering, production, metallurgy or research.

If you have a brother, sister or friend graduating from college this June, have them write to our Manager of College Relations for a career application blank.

If you're interested in learning a skilled trade, write for our free booklet describing apprentice training programs. For ambitious high school graduates, few companies can equal the challenges we offer. Or the chances for success.

Your future has to start sometime. And the sooner the better.

“IT IS ONLY THE IGNORANT WHO DESPISE EDUCATION.”

—PUBLILIUS SYRUS, 42 B. C.

Those words are even more true today than they were 20 centuries ago. As our society grows ever more technological, a solid educational background becomes increasingly important in getting and holding a good job. ■ Colorado Interstate, which works constantly to bring new industry and new prosperity into the Rocky Mountain West, has good reason to know that a high educational standard represents a powerful attraction to incoming businesses. ■ That is why we take this means of drawing to the attention of all teenagers—and their parents—the importance of finishing high school. It is important both to the individual and to this area's future prosperity. ■

SPONSOR

Mr. Gordon Baumann

That's what I think about more than anything else, people I'll never see again . . . a new sponsor with a bunch of old, old problems . . . administrators who put up with thousands of last-minute emergencies . . . frantic photographers and a frustrated printer . . . an infinitesimal staff that produced a yearbook with the odds stacked way up against it . . . and special thanks to the three or four who made the yearbook possible at all . . . but just wait until next year . . .
